VIENNA, Oct. 22.—Sofia advises
the Bulgarian Government, as a counter move to the Greek ultimatum,
has forwarded a protest
note to the League of Nations, based on Article 10. The Bulgarian troops along the Greek frontier have been instructed to offer the utmost resistance to the Greek advance against Petrich.

Article 10 of the League covenant binds the members to "respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League." It provides that in case of such aggression the League Council "shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled."

Both Greece and Bulgaria are members of the League.

Petrich, against which the Greeks are reported to be moving,
is a town of 8,000, a short distance from the Bulgarian border and almost directly south of Sofia, the capital.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 22.—It is officially reported that Greek troops have invaded Bulgarian territory. No declaration of war, however, has been received from the Athens Government.

The Bulgarian Government has been unable to get in touch with the Greek Government for the last three days, although three urgent messages have been sent to Athens urging a joint investigation into the border incident at Demirkhisar.

The Spanish Minister, Senor Romero, who returned from Saloniki
this morning informed the Associated Press that the Greek General Staff was in a high state of excitement.

By the Associated Press.
SOFIA, Oct. 22.—The Bulgarian Telegraphic Agency declares Greek artillery has penetrated Bulgarian territory, killing five sentinels and firing shells against the village of Petrich.

The Greeks occupied three Bulgarian posts the agency adds. The Bulgarian Government, thus far,
has received no response from Athens to its demand, three renewed, for an immediate inquiry to establish responsibility for the frontier incident of Monday near Demirkhisar.

Petrich is reported to be crowded with Macedonian refugees who are menaced by falling shells.

Information of Advance.
The Bulgarian Agency says the foreign office several days ago received information that Greek troops planned an advance movement in the Petrich area. This movement it adds now is reported to be under way along the entire front.

The telegraph agency says that at 2 p. m. yesterday while a Bulgarian press official at Demirkhisar
was waiting for an interview with a Greek press official with a view to arranging an investigation of previous incidents soldiers of the Greek post opened fire and tried to push forward.

The Greek version of the affair,
to the effect that Bulgarian soldiers attacked the Greeks first and occupied several high points along the border, is officially denied.

The Bulgarian Government has proposed to the Greek Government an official inquiry be instituted on the spot where the Greeks and Bulgars clashed. Bulgaria is also prepared to have a neutral commission appointed by the League of Nations investigate and fix the responsibility for the frontier incident.

Graeco-Bulgar Affair Regarded as Phase of Struggle for Macedonia.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 22.—It was recalled in political quarters today that both Greece and Bulgaria are members of the League of Nations and it was contended that if Greece has actually demanded an indemnity, an apology and punishment.

BRITAIN PROPOSES CHANGE IN FRENCH RHINE REGIME

Urges That Inter-Allied Statement Be Issued Announcing That Germany
Has Disarmed.

MOVE DUE TO WORD FROM BERLIN

London Learns Opposition to Pact Is Growing and Chancellor Wants Assurance From Allies.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON,
London Correspondent of the Post-
Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The British Government has urged France,
through Lord Crewe, the British Ambassador in Paris, that an immediate inter-allied statement be issued that the Cologne zone will be evacuated shortly, that the Allies consider disarmament of Germany virtually complete, that the French regime in the second and third Rhine occupation zones will be at once modified and that the League of Nations commission of inspection into the demilitarization
of the Rhine zone will not make continuous investigations but will conduct its inspections only when complaints are made of treaty violations.

The British move yesterday was the result of representations from Berlin that, as the Locarno texts are studied, the Nationalist opposition is becoming more formidable and that Foreign Minister Stresemann and Chancellor Luther must have something substantial and definite to offer the Allies if the pact is to be ratified by Germany.

The German opposition according to information given to Foreign Secretary Chamberlain here, centers on the Eastern front.

Chamberlain's response to those appeals has been immediate, as the British do not want to take any chances of the good work of Locarno
being undone in Berlin.

The Germans have asked that the British leave Cologne Nov. 15.

The British communication to Paris
does not ask for immediate naming of a date, but lays most stress on the advisability of admitting publicly the German disarmament is virtually complete.

German Cabinet Avoids Vote on Security Pact.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Oct. 22.—The German
Cabinet, under the chairmanship of President von Hindenburg, today concluded its deliberations on the report of the German delegates to the Locarno Security Conference.

Because of difficulties that might have arisen between the Nationalist Cabinet members and their party,
no vote was taken, but Chancellor
Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann were authorized to present the Government's views at this afternoon's meeting of the Reich-stag's Foreign Affairs Committee.

It is learned that while the Nationalist Cabinet members personally sanction the work of the Locarno
delegates, provided the allies
keep their promises, it was considered inadvisable for the Cabinet to come out with a positive endorsement while the Nationalist still are in an attempt to win over the Nationalist party leaders.

GERMANY TO APPLY FOR MEMBERSHIP IN LEAGUE NEXT MONTH

By SAMUEL SPEWACK,
Berlin Correspondent of the Post-
Dispatch and New York World.

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—The German
Cabinet, the Premier of the Federal states and the chiefs of the Nationalist party halted two days of deliberations on the Locarno
pact last midnight.

The Cabinet waited for the Premier and both waited for the Nationalists to make up their minds
whether they wanted peace in Europe.

Nevertheless Foreign Minister Stresemann and Chancellor Luther are pushing the problem of reconciliation, regardless of what stand the Nationalists take. It is officially announced that Germany
will apply for admission to the League of Nations in November and take that occasion to demand a place in the secretariat and official status
for the German language—the latter primarily for encouragement of German minorities in foreign lands.

Nationalists Fear Junkers.
Luther and Stresemann have decided to use the problem of Co-logne evacuation and military control to open up the problem of universal disarmament. This is despite the fact that the Cabinet,
which included Nationalist members, has not yet officially approved the pact.

But too much significance should not be attached to Nationalist re-

ROSE TO FORTUNE

JOHN B. HEYDT.

JOHN B. HEYDT.

It is not to accept peace by treaty.
They are ruled primarily by international considerations, by fear of the Junkers on the land. Their objections do not represent the thought attitude of Germany as a nation.

Luther and Stresemann have formulated the following policy on the pact, disclosed to the correspondent by one of the German delegates at Locarno.

Luther and Stresemann assume all responsibility for the sincerity
of the allies' intentions—until it develops they were deceived at Locarno. Then, to quote Stresemann,
"We get out." But the informant made it plain that neither Stresemann nor Luther has the faintest intention of getting out.

"Chamberlain promised Stresemann," said the informant, "that within a week concrete proofs will be made that the Locarno pact is not merely words."

What Germany Expects.
This means, if it means anything, that: (1) Initial steps will be taken for evacuation of Co-logne; (2) The allies will call a halt on interallied military controlling and shortening the Rhine occupation.

Evacuation of Cologne Germany expects as a right. The other concessions she demands as fruits of Locarno.

"It is a mistake to take the Lo-carno treaties separately; then flaws can be found; but the work
as a whole must be considered,"
said the informant. "The Locarno
pact places the Versailles treaty under the treaties of arbitration. It immediately takes from France the right of invasion or sanctions. The Franco-Polish agreement affects the German right to force peaceful revision of our Eastern frontiers."

He insisted, too, that when Germany enters the League the door
will be open for making Germany
once more a colony-owning nation.
He pointed out that the German memorandum affirming the need for colonial possessions was never contradicted by any of the nations to which it was addressed.

There is no doubt that Stresemann
and Luther, buttressed by the French and allied promises, can jam the pact through the Reichstag.

the Diet yesterday that the Locarno
pact had weakened the Franco-Polish alliance, which heretofore had been based on Locarno.

He said his party would

STATE TAX CLUBS GIVE DINNERS FOR WAYS COMMITTEE

Hometown Groups Descend
on Capital in Private Cars to Influence Revenue Finders.

CONGRESS LIKELY TO ORDER INQUIRY

Already There Are Murmur-ings at Methods Although Object Admittedly Is Legitimate.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Murmurs which are, perhaps, the forerunner of congressional inquiry are being heard about the various tax clubs which are descending on Washington in private cars and serving sumptuous banquets for members of Congress and the press.

The motive is legitimate—to influence Congress to make a scientific tax law—but the method is calculated to arouse antagonism.

It is hard for people outside of Washington to understand why as free American citizens they cannot oppose and come to the national capital and urge their theories
without running into opposition.
But there is something about the congressional temperament which instinctively sets up a moor.

What the Clubs Want.
The tax clubs are born of a desire to tell Congress that the taxpayers, especially those upon whom the greatest burden of taxation falls, are asking for reform, not merely because of their own businesses, but because every set of tax rates affects in some way the cost of living and conditions of employment for the millions who pay no direct taxes or a small portion thereof.

Some of the tax clubs are plainly saying they intend to go back home
and tell the people what their representatives in Washington are saying. Thus the Iowa Tax Club gave a polite hint to that effect to chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee at a banquet
Wednesday night.

The Iowa Tax Club appeared before the Ways and Means Committee, and Representative Garner, ranking Democrat, who said he had not heard of the organization, insisted respectfully to their suggestions.

Now the Georgia Tax Club will be here tomorrow. Upwards of 100 organizations have asked for an opportunity to be heard before the Ways and Means committee, and in that number are probably a number of state tax clubs.

Influence Back Home.
The movement is in some respects novel, for these clubs are not asking for a special concession,
as is the custom when interested parties apply for particular tariff reductions, but for the committee's support of proposals like that advanced by the Secretary of the Treasury. The clubs are composed of eminent men in the local communities, men who are by no means involved in party politics and whose influence back home cannot be ignored.

The idea of bringing the constitency closer to the member of Congress in this way commended itself to the tax associations as likely to nip at a special concession, as even the most legitimate of organizations meets congressional favor
when there is any appearance of organized wealth.

Perhaps more important than the influence which the clubs will be able to exert here will be the knowledge that the individuals will get of the tax problem and congressional maneuvers so that the people "back home" will be better informed through these clubs of who is assisting or obstructing tax reform.

Another Advantage.
Another advantage which the tax clubs have over previous methods of influencing Congress is that state groups ordinarily are not in close touch with each other. The

FIRST EGG LAID BY HEN IN SPITZBERGEN MOUNTED AND INSCRIBED

By the Associated Press.
BARENTSBERG, Spitzbergen, Oct. 22.

SPITZBERGEN is paying due honor to its first locally laid hen's egg. Eggs are not scarce here for those of the elderduck and tern may be picked up by the thousands in the summer time, but the product of the ordinary barnyard fowl has been unknown.

The egg was laid in the henery of Dr. Dresselbush of the Dutch Coal Co., who is making an attempt to acclimatize chickens. His hen house, owing to the bitterness of the weather, is heated. It has to be darkened during a part of each 24 hours of the midnight sun period.

In the Arctic winter, artificial sunlight has to be provided.
Thus the hens are being made to feel at home just under the seventy-eighth degree, Northern latitude.

The newly laid egg has been mounted on a little stand and a suitable inscription placed on it.

national movement in this case will mean that the state clubs will cooperate to persuade their members of Congress to modify extreme positions.

A Congressional election is to be held a year hence and members of Congress will not readily antagonize influential constituents,
some of whom in the past have hesitated to, by financial contributions and otherwise, in the election of members of Congress.

It is a delicate procedure at best and may prove a boomerang to the advocates, but it is worth while to note that thus far there are only murmurs which may or may not vanish in the face of effective pressure from "back home."

ANY ANNEXATION PLAN WILL LOSE, LASHLY BELIEVES

County Freeholder Tells Meeting Spirit of St.
Louis Is "I Want What I Want When I Want It."

Whatever plan of metropolitan expansion may be submitted by the Board of Freeholders, the voters of the county and possibly of the city likely will defeat it, Arthur V.
Lashly, a county member of the board and an attorney, declared
before the new Page-Hodiamont Chamber of Commerce at dinner at the Hamilton Hotel last night.

The plan to be drafted by the board, the nature of which has not been determined, must be approved by the voters of city and county at separate elections, to become effective.

"I have seen a good deal of propaganda for annexation on the part of city people," Lashly said.
"Those people in the city who are for annexation don't know what they mean or want by annexation.
That's a St. Louis orchestra playing here tonight. I know, for they typified the spirit of St. Louis when they played 'I Want What I Want
When I Want It.'"

His Opinion of Vote.
"In my opinion, no matter what plan is drafted ultimately by the Board of Freeholders, there will be a striking difference of opinion as to whether it should be accepted or not, in the city. In the county the count will be something like this: Maplewood, about 50-50; University City, about the same; Webster Groves and Clayton will be overwhelmingly against any form of annexation under any plan. As for the rural sections, the vote will be much like that of Webster and Clayton, only more so."

"It is just possible, but not probable, that some parts of the county will be in favor of some form of annexation, but the rural part will be absolutely against any form."

Lashly outlined the history of the expansion movement and expressed himself as feeling that the freeholders should not discuss merits of either of the three possible schemes except at meetings of the board.

Vote Recalled.
In connection with his prediction
of the county vote, it is recalled that the suburban sections returned the Page-Hodiamont ticket in the constitutional amendment which made the Board of Freeholders possible, and also returned similar majorities for an earlier amendment which failed elsewhere in the State. The rural vote of the county is small compared with the suburban vote.

About 200 men and women attended the dinner, coming from both the city and county sides of the Page-Hodiamont divide.
It is believed that expansion will be a live question in the organization.

Other speakers were Probate Judge Hodgdon of the county and former Circuit Attorney Lawrence McDaniel of the city.

$100,000 Alienation Suit
of Track Follower's Wife.

ANOTHER STAGE STAR
MENTIONED AT TRIAL

Man in Case Quoted as Boasting That Lillian Lorraine
Was His Only Sweetheart.

Miss Lillian Lorraine, the New York actress, yesterday testified in the Supreme Court of Missouri in the $100,000 alienation suit of Charles C. Frey, who is charged with having stolen from her by Wilda Bennett, musical comedy actress, began yesterday when Mrs. Frey took the stand to tell of the wreck of her husband's life.

In the course of her recital and the attempts by opposing counsel, William J. Fallon, to batter down the allegations on which Mrs. Frey has based her $100,000 damage suit, the name of Lillian Lorraine, another musical comedy star, was brought into the case. In the testimony of subsequent witnesses reference was made also to a mysterious man who was alleged to have helped Miss Bennett leave a house at 59 East 121st street, in September, 1922. A former butler of Miss Bennett added to the details by telling of breakfasts in Miss Bennett's home in Great Neck, L. I., at which, he said, Frey appeared in the pajamas.

Mrs. Frey, quiet-voiced, blond-haired and attractive, dressed in a black blue tailored suit and black shoes, testified she and Frey were married in Louisville, Nov. 8, 1919, in reply to a question by her attorney, Edwin N. Edwards, she said her husband was in "the racing line" when she married him.

Says He Was Bookmaker.
The bookmaking business, you know, don't you?" asked Edwards. "Yes, it was a business that took me into the racing line," she testified.

During part of 1922, while they were in New York, she continued, she had an apartment in East 117th street, while her husband maintained a separate establishment in East 117th street. One day in August, 1922, she testified, she saw her husband in a sport roadster which she had loaned to Miss Bennett. She got out of the car and asked him about it. "Oh, I heard, Mrs. Bennett," she said. "She had heard, Mrs. Bennett," she said. "She had heard, Mrs. Bennett," she said.

Reason for First Homes.
When Mrs. Frey first asked her husband about Miss Bennett, she said her husband told her Miss Bennett had seen him at the Empire City race track and had asked to meet him.

Fullon produced a record of Mrs. Frey's examination by the trial in which she testified that her husband had told her in 1922 he was through with her.

Explaining why the Freys had two apartments in New York, the wife said her husband told her he did not want her in the 55th street apartment because he had people there he did not want her to associate with. She knew, she said, he went out nights and gambled.

Gorman Lenny, real estate agent, told of leasing the house at No. 59 East 89th street to Miss Bennett in September, 1922, and asking her the following February or March about the man he said had helped her leave it. He was about to give his name when Fallon interrupted him. Lenny said Miss Bennett was preparing to vacate the house in the spring of 1924 and told him she had bought a house at Great Neck and had married Frey.

Celeste Baban, butler employed at Miss Bennett's Great Neck house from July 2, until September 1, 1922, when he was discharged, told of Frey staying there after July 29 and taking breakfast with Miss Bennett clad only in his pajamas.

CLAYTON POLICE CHIEF TURNS IN HIS SHIELD

Resignation of Thomas Manion After Demand Is Made by Board.

Thomas Manion, youthful Chief of Police of Clayton, yesterday resigned his position after the Police Board of the county seat had demanded that he turn in his shield. It was formally stated that the board regarded him as too young and indiscreet. He is in his early twenties.

The demand that he leave the force, it was learned, resulted from the following incident as related to the police board by John Beseney, a barber, and Robert Boschert, a tinner, both of Clayton. Boschert and Beseney testified they were driving in Gay avenue, west of Clayton, about two weeks ago when they thought they heard a woman scream. They stopped to investigate and met with two other men who also believed they had heard an outcry.

A little way down the road the four came upon a parked car. In the machine, Beseney and Boschert said, were Manion and a young woman. After Manion had explained that nothing was wrong the four men turned away. Then, according to the two witnesses, Manion fired four shots, one of which grazed a member of the four volunteer investigators.

Manion, testifying for himself, admitted that he had fired the shots but said he thought one of the men was a robber. He declared he fired in the air but the board told him his action had been indiscreet. Neither Manion nor members of the board would discuss the matter today.

An open verdict was returned by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Harold Jerome Ford and Arletta Kellen, the Wood River boy and girl who were killed by a train Sunday. The verdict in both cases was "Probably by being struck by train No. 155 on the A. & E. Railroad, between Ferguson avenue and the Standard Oil Refinery crossing."

Members of the train crew testified that they knew nothing of the accident and saw no persons or bodies on the tracks. They were buried at a double funeral Tuesday and the bodies interred in the same grave in the Wood River cemetery.

Yesterday a second operation was found necessary and the ship was halted again for two hours.

FOR CREDIT SWINDLE

Sealed Jury Verdict Also Carries $1000 Fine for William Hoffman.

A jury's sealed verdict, opened today in Circuit Judge Mix's court, convicted William Hoffman, formerly a shoe dealer at 5975 Easton avenue, of obtaining credit under false pretenses and fixed his punishment at six months in jail and a $1000 fine.

The case is the first involving that charge to be tried in St. Louis since the law was enacted in 1919. The only other similar case on record in Missouri was tried at Kansas City in 1923 and resulted in a sentence of four years in the penitentiary. The law provides for a maximum punishment of five years imprisonment and a minimum of $1000 fine.

Hoffman was accused of obtaining $5000 merchandise from the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. in August, 1923, on credit granted after he submitted a financial statement. He went into bankruptcy the following November. It was alleged he failed to list liabilities of $6000 in the statement.

Hoffman denied there was any felonious intent to defraud in the transaction, explaining he regarded the $6000 as a personal debt and not a liability attached to the store. Hoffman is now a shoe clerk at Memphis, Tenn. His attorney indicated an appeal would be taken.

SALOON OF 'BUCK' KEENAN RAIDED; BARTENDER HELD

Police Take Charge of Alleged Gin
and Beer—Another Proprietor Gave Permission for Search.

The saloon of "Buck" Keenan, at 13 North Seventh street, was raided by Detective Sgt. Coakley and the rum squad yesterday evening. The bartender, Otto Hartman, was arrested.

Sgt. Coakley reported as he entered the saloon he saw the bartender leaving the icebox with a bottle of supposed whisky in one hand and a glass in the other. Two customers were in front of the bar. On sight of the raiders, Coakley reported, the bartender shoved the bottle back in the icebox and dumped the contents of the glass on the floor. Another glass was found on the drain board behind the bar.

He reported, "Coakley also took charge of a bottle of supposed gin in the icebox, a half barrel of what he says is beer on tap and four half-barrels not on tap. Tabs supposed to be bets and programs of the races at Fairmount track, also were found in the saloon."

The same raiders reported later finding a half pint of supposed whisky secreted in a hollowed out post ostensibly as an upright for the bar in the saloon of Edward J. Byrne, 1508 North Taylor avenue. Coakley reported he was given permission to search the place by Byrne, who complained business was "too dull" and said, "you'll find nothing here." Tapping the upright revealed a hollow sound, Coakley said, and he and his men found a sliding panel which revealed the bottle inside the post. Byrne and his bartender, Patrick Cremins, were arrested.

FILIPINO LAWYER SPEAKS HERE

The quest of the Filipinos for freedom is not based upon logical grounds, Vincent Villamin, Filipino lawyer, writer and economist, declared in an address yesterday before the Co-operative Club at Hotel Statler.

Villamin asserted that the protection afforded the islands by this country would not be given if the Filipinos were free. He also pointed out that 70 per cent of Filipino exports are received in this country free of duty, a great economic advantage that would disappear with independence.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, whose announced purpose is to abolish belief in God and to contribute to construction of a better civilization by "acting as a wrecking company" was denied articles of incorporation yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Mitchell.

The petition, submitted by Charles A. Smith, a local attorney, was ordered held by the court. One of the articles of incorporation gave as part of the association's mission the conduct of "general propaganda against the church and the clergy." The article read:

"In prosecuting its work, which shall be purely destructive, the society shall hold public meetings and erect radio stations for the delivery and broadcasting of lectures, debates and discussions of the subjects of science and religion; publish and distribute scientific and antireligious literature and conduct a general propaganda against the church and clergy. Specializing as it does in mental reconstruction, the society shall contribute to the building of a better civilization by operating as a wrecking company, leaving to others the designing and establishing of the new order. Especially shall it endeavor to free American scientists and statesmen from the necessity of patronizing religion."

Acting on information that a house at 2615 Olive street was "having too many visitors" policemen last night raided the place. One man was arrested after a pocketbook containing his photograph and a receipt for furniture used in the place was found in a closet. Four pairs of dice and three decks of cards were confiscated.

The raiders also found in the pocketbook a torn corner from a $20 bill and a like fragment of a $1 bill. The prisoner was ordered held for Federal authorities and also was booked as suspected of conducting card and dice games.

ACCUSED BOOTLEGGER SLAYER UNDER BOND

Coroner's Jury Holds Caligiro
Lapico in Case of Robert Mann, Negro.

In a dying statement at city hospital last night, Robert Mann, 39 years old, a negro, of 3614 Morgan street, declared to police officers and physicians that he was shot by his bootlegger in a quarrel because he had taken his business elsewhere.

He identified Caligiro Lapico, 22, poolroom proprietor at 880 Biddle street, as his assailant. At an inquest today the statement was read and Lapico was held for the grand jury under $10,000 bond, charged with homicide.

There were no witnesses to the shooting, which occurred in the yard of Mann's restaurant at 886 Biddle street Monday evening. Mann declared that he formerly bought whisky from Lapico which he retailed to his customers, until last week, when the quality became bad. Lapico met him in the yard Monday, upbraided him, and finally shot him in the neck, he said.

Mann died of paralysis induced by the wound shortly after making his statement. Lapico denied he was in the yard.

MISS WHITNEY SAYS SHE WILL NOT ASK FOR A PARDON

Movement on, However, to Arouse Sentiment for Woman Syndicalist in California.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Although Miss Charlotte Anita Whitney, social worker sentenced to prison for violation of the California criminal syndicalism law has made known that she will not attempt to escape imprisonment, plans to aid her are in the process of formation in various parts of the State. Her attorney, John Francis Neylan of San Francisco, announced that definite plans will be made to take up the sentiment which exists throughout California in order that she shall be "harassed no longer."

Following Gov. Richardson's action at Los Angeles yesterday in denying an audience to the American Civil Liberties Union, the secretary of the Los Angeles branch of the organization announced it would appeal to the people direct at a mass meeting to be held there Nov. 1.

Miss Whitney, whose conviction was upheld by the United States Supreme Court last Monday, was sentenced to serve one to 14 years. Her sentence probably will not start for about a month.

"I am not going to ask for a pardon," Miss Whitney said. "If the Governor is disposed to pardon any one let him liberate the poor men who are now imprisoned for violation of this same law, and whose guilt may be less than mine. He could more closely approximate justice by pardoning them than by extending a pardon to me, a woman of wealth and influence."

W. J. Locke, City Attorney of Alameda, author of the syndicalism law which Miss Whitney was convicted several years ago of violating, said that Miss Whitney's conviction was a mistake. He said the law was not designed to prosecute those who would effect governmental changes by peaceable means.

LOOT OF BURGLARS LEADS

POLICE TO ESCAPED PRISONER

Lawrence Zimmer, 24, Had No Connection With Theft, But Lived Where Goods Had Been Hidden.

Lawrence Zimmer, 24 years old, is playing in hard luck, to use his own expression. Several days ago policemen raided his rooming house at 1848 South Twelfth street and found a quantity of stolen hardware to which they had been guided by the confession of three burglars. Lawrence wasn't connected with the robbery, but they arrested him anyhow.

Investigation showed he had escaped from Booneville reformatory in August, 1924, while serving a five-year term for robbery. He is being returned today.

Miss Minnie Sellmann, 21, Died After Taking Overdose of Poison Tablets.

A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned today in the case of Miss Minnie Sellmann, 21 years old, who died at her home, 7415 Tennessee avenue, at 10 p. m. yesterday, a few minutes after she had taken an overdose of poison tablets prescribed for her in normal doses by a physician.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heronius Sellmann, testified she retired shortly before 10 a. m. Later her sister, Emma, heard groans and found her lying on her bed unconscious. The bottle of tablets was beside her. None of the relatives could give a likely reason for her act, except illness.

U. S. WARNS COSMETIC FIRM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Harrington Hubbard Ayer, Inc., of New York, described as the third largest manufacturer of cosmetics in the United States, with 8000 customers, principally retail merchants, was ordered by the Federal Trade Commission yesterday to discontinue certain business practices involving the fixing of resale prices as constituting unfair methods of competition.

The commission found that, when price-cutting was brought to the attention of the company in some instances further shipments of its product to the dealer was refused. The result, it asserted, was a suppression of competition.

GIVES PSYCHOLOGIST TOP OF SCIENCE LIST

Kansas Educator, Here Says
Laws to Control Mind
Are in Sight.

"That the pioneers in the realm of directed psychology have been of greater importance than those to whom is credited the development of electricity, the airplane and radio, is the belief of Chancellor Ernest H. Lindley of the University of Kansas. Chancellor Lindley spoke yesterday morning on "New Pioneers" to students of Washington University at Graham Memorial Chapel.

"We are in sight of solid laws by which we may hope to win complete control of the mind," he said. "These pioneers have done a greater work than the inventor of the airplane, or those who have harnessed electricity, for the mind is a machine that has required tens of thousands of generations to build, and through its control we may expect greater discoveries and inventions."

Pioneer of the Mind.
"There were two old types of pioneer—the men who conquered the West with the gun and the ax, and those who went down to the sea in ships. Their frontiers have been assailed and virtually abolished. Now we have the frontier of exterior nature, the frontier of the mind, and the frontier of a new social order."

"Progress goes on at an increasing rate. It has been said there has been more progress in the last 10 years than in the 50 years before that time, and that in the 60-year period more was accomplished than in 300 years before."

"The frontiersmen of exterior nature work to give us a solar engine, instead of waiting a million years for energy of the sun contained in the coal from which we now derive power."

To Awaken New Mental Power.

"The pioneers of the mind will give us a system of education that will awaken sleeping mental powers. In the neighborhood, the new frontier for pioneers in the new social order, new comforts and conveniences will be obtained through division of labor, collected activity, and the proper exercise of the law of combination."

"If Archimedes, the unknown inventor of the wheel; the inventor of fire making; and so recent a pioneer as Daniel Boone should come face to face with the Wright Brothers, Edison and other pioneers of today, they might not have so congenial a time at first. Then they would find among themselves the same qualities, the same spirit of pioneers, no less important today than yesterday. Today's frontiers are more vast than those of yesterday, for the efforts of our fathers have opened new frontiers to us."

ANCIENT ALABASTER LAMPS

BETTER THAN MODERN ONES

Egyptian Work of 3,275 Years Ago Unsurpassed in Design and Translucency.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Whereas the world is just beginning to use alabaster for electric lighting, the Egyptians 3,275 years ago made even finer alabaster lamps than are produced today. Howard Carter, co-discoverer of Tutankhamen's tomb, said in an address here.

Carter made known that in finding many of these lamps in the tomb the secret of how the Egyptians illuminated their homes was revealed.

The lamps were executed in beautiful designs in translucent alabaster, and one of them stood about three feet in height, with a large central cup. There was no decoration on the exterior of the interior, but immediately a light was placed in the vessel there could be seen a picture of the young King and Queen in colors. This effect was produced by another vessel, with the decoration on its exterior, being fitted inside the lamp so cleverly that the joints between the two vessels could not be seen.

PEACE AND PROSPERITY

AHEAD, SAYS SCHWAB

Declares Two Problems Are Reduction of Costs and Development of Men.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Peace and prosperity are over the horizon.
Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel Co., told the conference on education and industry held in connection with the annual meeting of the Institute of American Meat Packers at the University of Chicago.

The outlook for steel never was better, he said yesterday, and he called steel the nation's business barometer.

"I am an optimist, have always been an optimist, always will be an optimist," he said. "Ever since I have been in business I have believed in investing money, building up properties, going ahead in accordance with my dreams of what could be and ought to be. It is amazing how often these dreams have come true."

"Bethlehem's marvelous plant for production of munitions has been turned 99 per cent to productions of implements of peace, and all of Bethlehem's investment in real properties and no advancement is in full confidence that the years to come will be years of peace."

"The need for reducing costs and developing men are two great problems and not the least of the needs of the hour is development of the art of human engineering, the art of enabling men to get greater results in both achievement and happiness out of their work than ever before."

Electricity's future is optimistic, bearing promise of electrici-fied railroads and cheap power and light to the farmer, said E. W.
Rice Jr., honorary chairman of the Board of the General Electric Co.

Frank O. Lowden, former Gov-nor of Illinois, said that, although "ours is a new land," we have reached the point where the problem of food supply for the future becomes vital. He urged for a national agrarian policy to restore the fertility of the soil.

"I think it is agreed we have reached the point of diminishing returns from the land," said the former Governor. "That is, increase in the production of food
from now on will be at a constantly increasing cost."

SO MANY SOVIET EMBEZZLERS
THEY LINE UP TO SURRENDERInfliction of Death Penalty Causes Notable Diminution in Theft of Funds.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Oct. 22.—Embezzlement of state funds by trade union co-operative employees is becoming quite frequent, the head of the Soviet Criminal Investigation Department and chairman of the Moscow District Court announced. In the last six months there were more than 2000 thefts, involving several million rubles.

The infliction of the death penalty in the most serious cases has terrified would-be embezzlers and a notable diminution in the theft of government funds has been observed in the last few weeks. The criminal investigation chief remarked that thefts had become so numerous that numerous offenders voluntarily surrendered. There were long lines of offenders outside his department asking to be imprisoned for embezzlement.

FREED OF AUTO THEFT CHARGE
Clarence Abney Acquitted by Order of Federal Judge Davis.

After Government witnesses had testified yesterday in the trial of Clarence Abney, 27 years old, of 1551 Cass avenue, charged with the theft and transportation of an automobile, Federal Judge Davis directed a verdict for the defendant because the Government failed to prove the transportation of the stolen car.

Abney, shortly after his arrest
on the theft charge, complained to District Attorney Curry that he had been beaten by policemen. An investigation was made by the Board of Police Commissioners, resulting in exoneration of the officers.

BEET SUGAR CASE DROPPED BY U. S. TRADE BOARD

Proceeding Instituted Against Manufacturers
Was Factor in Defeat of Warren for Attorney General.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Federal Trade Commission's proceedings against beet sugar manufacturers, which were a factor last spring in the successful fight to prevent confirmation of Charles B.
Warren as Attorney-General, have been dismissed by a 2 to 2 vote of the commission.

The commission's complaint, issued 13 days after Warren's name
was sent to the Senate by President Coolidge, was directed against the Larowe Milling Co. of Detroit and 13 concerns engaged in the manufacture of beet sugar. Among them was the Michigan Sugar Co., of which Warren had been the head. He resigned from the presidency of the company while his name was under consideration for the Cabinet post.

The companies were charged with suppressing competition in the sale of beet pulp, and the commission's complaint was cited by Senator Couzens of Michigan, and others as a basis for opposing Warren's confirmation.

The Michigan company, together with others, denied the charges in the complaint, declared its contract with the Larowe company had expired, and asserted its willingness to accept without opposition any restraining action the commission might think necessary.

Dismissal of the complaint was without explanation except for the statement that the action was taken on the advice of the commission's chief counsel. There were indications, however, that some members of the commission would explain their attitude later. The dissenting votes were cast by Commissioners Thompson and Nugent.

The Larowe company manufactures mixed cattle feed and acts
as sales agent for beet sugar manufacturers.

MAN IN STOLEN AUTO ROBS 3 PERSONS IN 20 MINUTES

Thief in Pea-jacket Abandons Machine After Getting $4.40
and Watch.

A young man in a navy pea-jacket stole an automobile and robbed three persons within 20 minutes last night. He got $4.40
and a watch.

He was seen starting the sport
roadster of William Kunderer, 3705
McDonald avenue, parked at 3534
McKean avenue, at 9 o'clock. Ten minutes later he halted Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Jeffords of 2932
Wyoming street, on Russell place, near Hartford street, and forced them to surrender $6. In another 10 minutes he was near the home of Clarence Stanley, 2116 Eads avenue, taking from Stanley a watch and 40 cents.

The machine was found later in the alley between Market and Walnut streets west of Jefferson avenue.

Stillman Pays Costs of Litigation.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 22.
—What was believed to be the final chapter in the litigation brought by James A. Stillman against his wife, Anne U. Stillman, was written yesterday when Supreme Court Justice Morschauer
signed an order cancelling all the bonds given in the various appeals taken in the suit, amounting in all to $10,000. The cancellation was taken to indicate that Stillman had paid all the costs of the litigation.

TRAIN ROBBER ESCAPES ON TRIP OUTSIDE PRISON

By the Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 22.—When E. J. Flanagan, guard from the Missouri Penitentiary at Jefferson City turned his back at an interurban station yesterday, Alvin Marion Clark, convicted train robber, dashed from the station to liberty. The guard was unable to shoot because of fear of injuring innocent bystanders in the crowd. Clark, 22 years old, was serving a 10-year sentence for wrecking a Burlington passenger train near Saxton, six miles east of here, Dec. 12, 1922. Clark was brought to St. Joseph presumably to attend the funeral of a sister this afternoon. Flanagan, at police headquarters, displayed a telegram received by Clark, which read: "Funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m." The message was signed by Henry L. Clark.

When the guard and the prisoner arrived here, Clark was unable to give the address of his supposed sister's residence. After several houses had been visited and Flanagan became convinced that the funeral story was false, he returned with his man to the interurban station. It was while waiting for the car to take them back to Jefferson City that Clark made his escape.

Traffic Cops to be Illuminated. By the Associated Press.
MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 22.—England's traffic policemen

shortly may become illuminated semaphores at night. A Manchester engineer has invented a phos-phorescent arrow for directing of traffic at street corners. The vivid green and another of ruby shaft is strapped on the wearer's red.

EPISCOPAL BOARD

Bishops Refer Subject to Commission—"Obey" Stricken From Marriage Vow.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22.—Study of the problem of divorce has been entrusted to a commission by the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The question was brought before the Bishops yesterday by the Rt. Rev. William Alexander Guerry, Bishop of South Carolina, the one State in the Union having no provision in its laws for divorce. Bishop Guerry proposed to place Bishops on record as recognizing that they "have a responsibility to discharge in the matter of upholding the sanctity and integrity of the marriage relation." With the questions of divorce and remarriage eliminated from consideration for three years, the Bishops devoted the remainder of their session to adoption of the report of a joint commission on admission to deaconesses. The report was amended in several particulars, one change being a provision that the office shall be vacated by marriage.

Change in Marriage Service.
Women taking marriage vows under the Episcopal ceremony were definitely relieved from "promising to obey" their husbands when the Bishops concurred with the deputies in eliminating the word from the service. The test ballot showed 66 to 27, 66 being necessary constitutional majority. With "obey" went the bridegroom's announcement to the bride "with all my worldly goods, I then endow." The deputies refused to declare women eligible for membership in the general convention, and almost at the same time the Bishops refused to endorse Bishops to license women as lay readers.

Dry Law Enforcement.
In the House of Bishops the Right Rev. John C. Ward, Bishop of Erie, offered a resolution, unanimously adopted, providing:

"That facing the danger of the spirit of lawlessness in American life, we welcome the renewed efforts of the Government of the United States to enforce strictly and impartially the prohibition law and the antinarcotic laws, which are so widely and cynically disregarded, and we call upon the people of our church to set good example of obedience to law without which no democracy can endure."

A resolution sponsored by the Rev. G. F. Dudley, Washington, and adopted by the deputies, called on Congress to enact "such laws for the District of Columbia as shall protect the civil institutions of the Lord's day from unnecessary labor and business."

Possibility that the Episcopal Church may become more actively connected with the Federal Council of Churches, appeared when the deputies passed a resolution to that effect, offered by George W. Wickersham of New York.

Burial of Suicides.
The proposal to omit from the prayer book a rubric forbidding the use of the burial office for unbaptized adults and those "who lay violent hands on themselves," was rejected.

Omission of the 29 Articles of Religion, together with the title page now printed at the end of the prayer book, was approved by the deputies.

Deputies defeated a motion to declare that the Scripture "contains, rather than is, the word of God." A resolution urging the United States to participate in the permanent court of international justice at The Hague was passed by the deputies.

$50,000 for Presbyterians in Year.

Gifts totaling $59,200 were received during the past year by the Women's Synodical Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Synod of Missouri, it was reported at the fifteenth annual meeting of the organization yesterday at Central Presbyterian.

ROAD TO SOUTHEAST MISSOURI IS OPENED

Hundred Miles of Concrete and 40 of Gravel Surface on State Highway No. 9.

Southeast Missouri and St. Louis have been connected by a fine primary highway, after many years of mud and rocks, and a number of years of construction work.

Except for several short detours, State Highway No. 9 now consists of nearly 100 miles of concrete and more than 40 miles of good gravel road between St. Louis and Cape Girardeau. This is the longest stretch of fine high-grade highway in the State, although construction work on other routes will take this record away from it in coming months.

Beyond Cape Girardeau there is excellent gravel road, with some stretches of concrete, through Sikeston and New Madrid. Few Detours.

Opening this week of 40 miles of new concrete between Fredericktown and Jackson, south of Cape Girardeau County, through No. 9 open for direct travel. Heretofore many tourists from Southeast Missouri have had to ferry the Mississippi and come to St. Louis over Illinois concrete. The route through Missouri is shorter. It is about 150 miles from Cape Girardeau to St. Louis.

The tourist going to Southeast Missouri from St. Louis first encounters 24 miles of concrete from Luxembourg to Herculaneum, broken up about a mile at Pevely because of a dispute over a bridge. There is about five miles of slag road between Herculaneum and Festus and then a short detour through Crystal City before returning to concrete.

This detour should be eliminated by new concrete in about two weeks.

All-Weather Route. Twenty-seven miles of new concrete has been opened in recent weeks from a point south of Festus to a point southeast of Bonne Terre. The highway here was cut across country, avoiding old roads, to gain the most advantageous route. It follows in general the line of the Mississippi River & Bonne Terre Railroad.

Next there remains a four-mile detour through Esther and around Flat River, which will be eliminated by new concrete soon; then another mile of open concrete and about 25 miles of gravel to Fredericktown. Beyond the new Fred-ericktown-Jackson concrete there is 10 miles of excellent gravel into St. Louis to New Madrid now.

CAPTAIN OF LINER SLAIN WHILE ASLEEP

First Officer of Melita Held After Wounding Two Others in Attack on Vessel.

By the Associated Press.
ANTWERP, Oct. 22.—Capt. A. H. Clews, commander of the Canadian Pacific liner Melita, was shot and killed in his cabin on the liner here early yesterday while he slept. Two other officers of the ship were wounded. Thomas Towers, first officer, was arrested, charged with the murder, and will be handed over to the British authorities at Southampton. He is said to have told police he shot Captain Clews because the commander and other officers had tried to wreck his career.

Captain Clews was a nephew of the late Henry Clews, Wall Street financier, who, English by birth, died in America in 1923. The wounded officers were taken to an Antwerp hospital in a serious condition. They are David K. Gilmour of Glasgow, assistant chief engineer, and John Holliday, of Bottle, England, second engineer. Bullets were removed from Holliday and Gilmour.

Police say that shortly after Towers went to the captain's cabin a pistol shot was heard. The captain was found dead with a bullet wound in his head. The police say that Towers, after shooting the commander, entered Gilmour's cabin, and shot the engineer in the face. Other officers were attracted to the scene, and in a struggle with Towers the second engineer was shot twice in the lungs. Other members of the crew eventually overpowered Towers and disarmed him.

Captain Clews, whose home was in Birkenhead, was born in Liverpool. He joined the Canadian Pacific in 1904. He served in the war, returning to England in command of a German prize ship. Afterward he was made commander of the transport Montezuma and made 15 voyages between the Americas and England in command of troop ships. He held the Royal Humane Society's diploma for life saving.

BAKER DIDN'T ISSUE ORDER AGAINST RAUPP

Says He Did Not Know in Advance of Action by Rumbold in Guard Dispute.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 22.—The warfare for administrative control of the Missouri National Guard developed a new phase today when Gov. Baker declared he had not directed issuance of the order sent out yesterday by Adjutant-General Rumbold over the Governor's name, which directed Brigadier-General W. A. Raupp, commanding General of the State troops, of authority over the State Staff Corps and transferred that authority to Rumbold. Baker said he had not written the order, nor seen it, until he sent for a copy after reading newspaper accounts of the issuance of the order. "I am not interested in these quarrels between persons involved," he said, apparently referring to the friction that has existed between Rumbold and Raupp over administrative control of the State troops. Baker was asked if he intended to rescind the order. "I am not taking any action now," he said. "The order makes no change in the personnel of the State Staff Corps, originally appointed by Raupp. When vacancies occur I will fill them, and will expect to have the recommendations of Gen. Raupp and Gen. Rumbold. Whatever the authority is over the staff, I make out the commissions when appointments are made." The Governor is displeased with the issuance of the order, it is said, because of the probable effect of intensifying discord in the control of State military forces. Administration Republicans today expressed dissatisfaction over the latest development in the recurring maneuvers for control of the guard and pointed out the move was contrary to the Governor's recent efforts to promote harmony in the Republican ranks, shattered to some extent by the recent Board of Health scandal and penitentiary contract disclosures.

Changes Probable.
It was rumored in political circles at the capital today that the National Guard situation might result in changes in the adjutant general's department.

As told in the Post-Dispatch, the order took away from Raupp the authority he has exercised over the State staff corps as commanding general, and placed that authority in the hands of Rumbold. Members of the State staff corps who perform various administrative duties were instructed to perform no military duties except upon orders from the adjutant general. The order does not affect the Seventeenth Brigade staff, under Raupp. The order was signed "by order of the Governor, F. M. Rumbold, the adjutant general."

Explanation by Rumbold.
Rumbold has contended that under National Guard regulations the control of the staff corps invested in the adjutant general acting as the "mouthpiece" for the Governor as commander-in-chief. Raupp has taken the position that under the State military code the staff is under the commanding general. The staff corps comprises the inspector general's department, judge advocate general's department, quarter master corps ordinance department and medical department of the Missouri National Guard. Rumbold has stated the various moves he has made were not directed at Raupp, but in the interest of economy and efficiency and to build up the National Guard organization.

NEW DIRECTORS CHOSEN FOR BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

Work of Organization in Protecting Investors Reviewed by Manager at Meeting.

A review of the work of the St. Louis Better Business Bureau was given by its manager, Harry W. Riehl, at the annual meeting of bureau members at the Annex Hotel yesterday. He said the bureau had received 2070 inquiries in a year about various financial and merchandise matters and had saved hundreds of thousands of dollars by warning prospective investors of fraudulent schemes. Dozens of persons had their money returned to them with the aid of the bureau, and others have obtained delivery of stock which was being held back.

William McC. Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, and president of the Better Business Association, presided at the meeting, and said the bureau is "making St. Louis a safe place to buy in." The following directors were elected for three-year terms: L. M. Monheimer, John A. Welpert, Nelson P. Darragh, Edward T. Hall, E. A. Erker, Victor T. Moberly, Martin Schweig, John J. Dowling, John C. Hall and John R. Longmire.

"Before I began using the Cascade Internal Bathing, I had been using pills for intestinal irregularity, heartburn and rheumatism until I was about pilled to death. Everything was still piling up. When your J. B. L. Cascade came, I dropped the pills entirely. I haven't had a minute's trouble since. No more heartburn. I am wonderfully free of all my former troubles. All I do is use J. B. L. Cascade once a week."

Now, why is the Cascade Internal Bathing so wonderful? Because medicine seldom originates in the intestinal tract. Internal Bathing with the J. B. L. Cascade cleanses the canal of its impurities and poisons—and is the only hygienic method that does. If you are golden health—learn immediately about Internal Bathing. DOGS WARN MOONSHINERS OF APPROACH OF RAIDERS

Federal Agents Find Still With Fire Under It, But No Operators.

Moonshiners, alarmed by the increasing number of penitentiary sentences being imposed by Federal courts, are adopting elaborate systems of lookouts to avoid capture, in the opinion of James Dillon, in charge of the local squad of prohibition enforcement agents. Dillon bases his belief in part upon an experience of yesterday in Jefferson County. When he and his men arrived at a farm on the Labarque Creek road, four and a half miles northeast of Cattawissa, they found a still, sizzling hot, a fire roaring beneath it, alcohol punning in a stream from the worm, but not a soul in sight.

Three hound dogs tied about the place were baying and had bayed for some time prior to the arrival of the agents. The agents beat about the vicinity of the farm, but found no one.

In wooden vats in a building adjoining the still were 14,000 gallons of mash. There were 85 gallons of finished product, also. The plant was destroyed.

Courts lately have been proceeding in the punishment of moonshiners under the revenue act, which makes a first offense punishable by as much as two years in the penitentiary. The Volstead act makes a first offense a misdemeanor, punishable by six months in jail or a fine of $100.

WOMAN HURT IN LACLEDE BLAST SUES FOR $25,000

Mrs. Henry Hassel, Who Was Paying Gas Bill, Alleges Permanent Injury.

The first damage suit growing out of the explosion in the Laclede Gas Building, Oct. 8, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by a customer who alleges her injuries were due to the negligence of the defendant, the Laclede Gas Light Co.

Mrs. Harry Hassel, whose attorney said she lives in South St. Louis, is the plaintiff and asks for $25,000 damages. She was paying her gas bill in the main floor office when the explosion occurred and the suit states that she suffered bruises of the head, neck, arms and face; burned eyelids, permanent injury to her eyesight, and cuts and bruises of the body.

Four persons were killed and 43 or more injured in the explosion.

FIRE IN WESTGATE HOTEL CONFINED TO GUEST'S ROOM

Overheated Electric Iron Held Cause of $25 Damage and Considerable Excitement.

Firemen were called to the Westgate Hotel, Kingshighway and Delmar boulevards, at 9 p. m., yesterday, following the discovery of fire in a guest's room on the fourth floor, reported to have been occupied by Simon Landau. Police were able to quell the excitement caused when firemen entered the hotel.

Damage to contents of the room and to the building were reported small, not exceeding $25 in all according to firemen. Cause of the fire was thought to have been an overheated electric iron.

ANCHOR OF COLUMBUS MOVED

Given to Chicago Historical Society by South Park Board.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The anchor of the Santa Maria, flagship of Columbus when he discovered America, has become the property of the Chicago Historical Society. For years it has been kept in the bow of a reproduction of a ship moored in Jackson Park, site of the Columbian exposition, 30 years ago. Fearful of a move to give the relic to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, the South Park Board turned it over to the historical society.

SYRIAN REVOLT SPREADS; FRENCH HOLD RAILROADS

Paris Press Protests Because Sarraill Did Not Inform Government of Seriousness of Situation.

TROOPS SURROUNDED BY HOSTILE TRIBES

Agitation Which Began in Djebel Has Extended to Nearly Whole Bagdad Region.

Special Cable to Post-Dispatch and New York World. PARIS, Oct. 22.—The French Government today announced that it had received information from the interior of Syria, which are kept open by armored trains.

The rebellion which started in the Djebel Druse has extended to the whole French mandated territory except along the coast, and Sarraill in Damascus is surrounded by rebellious tribes which he is unable to handle with the forces at his disposal. French public opinion is becoming excited over the small amount of news which it has had of the rebellion in Syria. Sarraill evidently believes he could handle the tribes, is accused of failing to give the Government complete information, and as he is a political appointee sent to Syria to take the place of Gen. Weygand, under whose regime there was no trouble, the Government is being criticized for leaving in charge an inexperienced General.

Le Matin said today: "As usual, Sarraill failed to inform the Government of the extent of the difficulties. It is hardly known that there are some disorders, but the presence of tanks and artillery shows there is something wrong. But which the Premier should be better informed." The agitation which commenced in the Djebel Druse has extended to nearly the whole Syria-Bagdad region. The rebellion at Hama, a bloody battle to put down, headed Damascus was in the hands of the rebels several hours, and the line from Beirut to Damascus is threatened every minute.

French Loss in Morocco and Syria Is 17,000.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—France has lost more than 17,000 men and has spent more than 2,000,000,000 francs since in Morocco and Syria since the took over the protectorate of Morocco and assumed the League of Nations mandate over Syria.

Such is the information imparted to the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies by Premier Painleve. In Morocco 2176 men were killed and 8397 were wounded and in Syria 6626 were killed, wounded or missing. The cost in Morocco had been 55,000,000 francs and in Syria more than 2,000,000,000 francs. Painleve said he hoped the question of Syria might be settled through the League of Nations but he entertains no such opinion concerning Morocco. "The Moroccan question," he declared, "is one which must be liquidated between France and Spain on the one hand and Abd-el-Krim on the other."

Two U. S. Destroyers Ordered Near to Syrian Coast.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Vice-Admiral Roger Welles reported to the Navy Department today that the United States destroyers Lamson and the Coghlan of the European squadron had been ordered from Gibraltar to Alexandria, Egypt, to be within easy reach of the Syrian coast. Admiral Welles was directed to send the destroyers when the American Consul at Beirut reported that disturbances in Damascus might lead to danger to Americans in Syria.

Autonomists Win in Lithuania.

MEMEL, Lithuania, Oct. 22.—The Memel Parliamentary election resulted in a substantial victory for the parties favoring autonomy and a plebiscite to decide the sovereignty of the territory, awarded to Lithuania by the Council of Ambassadors. Such a plebiscite was decided when the territory was severed from Germany under the Versailles treaty. The final election returns give the autonomists, consisting largely of Germans, 47,466 votes, netting them 23 seats, while the pro-Lithuanians, by virtue of 3477 votes, get only one seat. The Communists and other minorities made negligible showings.

Wilson. The letters are edited by Burton J. Hendrick, who consulted various leaders, political and diplomatic, with whom Ambassador Page came into contact, in his preparation of them.

(Continuing Ambassador Page's letter of June 22, 1917, to President Wilson.)

SOME weeks ago there was a more or less general fear here
lest France herself might say,
"Well, I've almost exhausted myself; I can go no further. Great Britain must carry on the war."
The coming in of the United States
gave her new spirit and new hope.
This accounts in some measure for the extraordinary display of sentiment when General Pershing reached Paris—I cannot say how much cold truth there is in this quite generally held British opinion, but it is a fact. I think it is much to do with their profound appreciation of our help.

Again—the friction between the Americans and Canadians and the British sometimes reaches seriousness. There is likely to be a stiff controversy when the lid is lifted.
Many such seamy-side pieces of information come to me, but only as reflected and refracted by English minds. I imagine we ought to learn them—such as are true—authoritatively. I get them by sometimes eating three meals a day and committing other such intimacies with the men who have attended these conferences.

Regarding the establishment of a military mission here—that seems necessary and urgent. Men, committees, commissions come, sometimes a creditable number, from our Government and our army, and some bringing none; and in not a few cases several of them seek the same information that was given to their predecessors a few weeks ago.
Then they go away. In a few more weeks more information is acquired and nobody gets that.

This whole business of our Government seeking information from our own people is a discouraging
such a practical working arrangement, I have telegraphed about
this, too.

The British views that reach me
in army circles are as cheerful and hopeful as the news that comes from navy circles is discouraging.
There is no danger of a serious shortage of food for any period
that may be foreseen. But the general informed fear a very serious
lack of such materials as oil, copper, etc., for use both by the fleet and for the army. There is no doubt of a very grave fear raised by the submarines. The Admiralty is detected. No submarine "antidote" has been found. The fact that must yet be killed before
the Germans will have to give in.
The feeling here is that if the submarine success were discouragingly diminished, the British would quickly fall.

The multitudinous tasks of preparation in the United States, reported, but reported very briefly,
in the London papers, make most favorable impression. And these reports are read here most gratefully. In their gratitude
there is a confession of the allies'
dire need of our help—a far more urgent need than anybody realizes but the men who know the inside facts. I have had momentary fears that the British may depend on us too much and expect too much of us, but I do not think we will lead to disappointment. But there is yet no evidence of this. And I am glad to say I have yet seen no evidence of a "let up"—relax their efforts because we are now helping. They are not built that way. They have vices and they are not always easy
to live with or to fight and die
with and we shall have our troubles with them. But I do not expect them to try to put their own tasks on us. Their continental allies have depended too long on them.
The British have been too heavily leaned on.

In fact, nothing could keep these nations all together a week
but dire necessity; it's another case
of hanging together or all hanging separately.

Two facts mark the successful progress of the war: the fall of Kings—all thrones are unsteady;

and the steady fall of the mark.
Its decline was greatly accelerated by our coming into the war. This decline is a measure of the strategic crisis here, which was inevitable.
He has many bitter enemies,
being a stimulating and contented fellow. He has done good service in many (perhaps most) of his crusades; for most of them have been directed against more or less incompetent men. He indulges in controversies rather than criticism. I think the criticism of him has now spent itself. And, since he has no diplomatic authority and is a business man of extraordinary ability and energy, I think his Government may deal with him frankly. He is the friendliest of Englishmen to us. His papers have all been singularly fair to us.
He knows and likes the United States, and is very well worth our while to know. He is the most friendly and helpful of any attention that you yourself
may show him will bear good fruit.
He is perhaps the most powerful man living in Great Britain—
how much by reason of and how much in spite of his methods. It would be hard to say. For the 20 years that I have known him he has done our country steady and useful service in his vast influence on British opinion.

Sincerely yours,
WALTER H. PAGE.

TO THE PRESIDENT
American Embassy, London
14 August, 1917.

MY DEAR MR. PRESIDENT:
No suggestion or proposal has been received here with a heartier
welcome than your proposal to send Admiral Mayo and other naval officers for a conference
here about the naval situation.
Mr. Balfour welcomed it eagerly and the Admiralty is equally pleased. I ought to add that Admiral Sims, too, is particularly pleased.

Since the war began the Admiralty has of course hoped that the German fleet would come out for a fight. The Jutland battle was such a practical working arrangement, I have telegraphed about
this, too.

The British views that reach me

ST. LOUIS PAYING NEARLY HALF OF ENTIRE STATE TAX

Forty-Eight Per Cent of 1924 Missouri Assessments Collected Here,
Table Shows.

CITY RATIO DOUBLED
IN LAST EIGHT YEARS

Payments Are Out of Proportion to Population,
Chamber of Commerce Report Discloses.

Under the heading "Who Pays
Our State Taxes?" the St. Louis
Chamber of Commerce has compiled a table showing all State tax payments for the last eight years.
The 1924 tax for St. Louis alone was 48 per cent of the whole State tax, as against 24 per cent in 1917.
Thus the St. Louis ratio has been doubled in eight years.

Over the period of eight years,
the St. Louis tax has averaged 40 per cent of the total for Missouri.
Of the tax not paid by St. Louis, much is borne by other industrial districts, including St. Louis County, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Springfield, Joplin and Sedalia.

"St. Louisans should be willing to pay their just taxes, but not more."
said P. V. Bunn, secretary of the chamber. "Legislators have no moral right to discriminate against one class of taxpayers in favor of another."

Ratio Out of Proportion.
The rate ratio is out of proportion to the population ratio. The 1920 Federal Census gave Missouri a population of 3,493,547, and St. Louis 772,897. The Census Bureau calculation of St. Louis' population as of July 1 last is 821-543. No estimate for the whole State has been announced.

Comment on the tax situation
was made as follows by Henri Chouteau, chairman of the St. Louis delegation in the House of Representatives:

"Your chart showing the money
collected by the State is most interesting. In my opinion it brings out vividly the tendency in our State Government to make the industrial sections of Missouri carry the cost of our State administration."

"As these taxes are paid by everyone, directly or indirectly,
and as all tax on industry is ultimately reflected either by lower wages or increased price of commodities, this chart should be interesting to everyone in St. Louis."

"When one considers that the State income tax is paid almost in its entirety by the industrial districts, and that St. Louis, including the county paid practically two-thirds of this tax, one realizes the unjust burden that St.
Louis is, and has been, carrying."

"The people of St. Louis and the industrial districts must well ask themselves to what length will this policy of especially taxing them for the entire State be carried."

"Increasing Yearly."
"Your chart shows emphatically that this tax is the one tax that is increasing year by year from some $200,000 in 1918 to over $3,000,000
in 1924."

"This is accomplished in the face of a decrease in the direct property tax, a tax which bears more equaly over the entire State of some $2,000,000."

"The State Tax Commission's recommendations for increased assessed valuations has worked out
so that from a practical basis
property in agricultural districts is assessed at only from one-third to three-fourths of its actual value, whereas in the City of St. Louis assessed valuation runs from three-fourths to full value."

Table Showing How St. Louis' Share
Of Total State Tax Burden Is Rising

THE following table, compiled by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, shows all State tax payments for the last eight years under the four principal headings. A greater burden of the tax is being borne each year by St. Louis, which paid 48 per cent of the total for 1924, as against 24 per cent for 1917. Over the eight-year period, St. Louis' taxes have averaged 40 per cent of the total for Missouri.

WOMEN VOTERS
HEAR DEBATE ON THE WORLD COURT

Tribunal Assailed as Iniquitous by Catholic Priest, Defended as Inducive to Peace by Attorney.

THE HAGUE CITED
AS AN ALTERNATIVE

Participants in Argument
the Rev. Father Wilbur of St. Cronan's Church and
E. M. Grossman.

The World Court is an iniquitous agent for the enforcement of the gravelly unjust and hence war-breeding Treaty of Versailles and others; a Power alliance of member nations against nonmember; a creature of the League of Nations, supported by the league and "the
who pays the piper calls the tune."

"The World Court is a sincere endeavor of enlightened nations to arbitrate war out of existence; it is no more responsible to the League of Nations than are American courts to the Legislatures which created them; it is an invitation to all nations to cast aside hatreds; it imposes no compulsion, but sets up an alternative to armed combat when diplomacy fails."

The first definition was that of the Rev. Father Russell Wilbur, pastor of St. Cronan's Church;
the second that of E. M. Grossman, an attorney, who appeared in debate yesterday before the League of Women Voters in Hotel Chase.

Argument of Father Wilbur.
Father Wilbur proclaimed that a world court cannot deal out justice, till justice has been revised out of the treaties that followed the armistice; cannot deal out justice until all nations are members upon equal terms. "We, who were worse to the absent ones," he cried
"If any relevant group or interest is absent because uninformed, it is morally present as a corpse upon which dimensions of justice are virtually impossible to be practiced. It is morally present as a carcass and where the carcass is, there shall the birds of prey gather." Russia, he said, was excluded, because the nations want her present only as a carcass.

Anyways, he declared, the world
court offered to the United States
no channel for arbitration that was not already open to her in the Hague tribunal. He adopted the artifice of Senator Reed in a recent speech in St. Louis, of reading the names of the foreign judges sitting upon the world court in such a manner as to draw titters
from the audience.

Rebuked by Grossman.
For this, he was rebuked by Grossman, who declared that it was unbecoming to attribute to men
with peculiar sounding names gross ignorance and inability to intelligently consider whatever should be brought before them.

Father Wilbur, who declared that reading of the names was only to emphasize the mixture of philosophies and civilizations represented

Make St. Louis the Safest City.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In your Oct. 19th issue appears a letter signed "Don," which takes issue with my position, quoted in a previous Post-Dispatch issue, that vehicles should be required to stop behind street cars which are taking on or discharging passengers. The figures on deaths and injuries to St. Louis citizens since the old ordinance requiring such stops was repealed should be sufficient argument for right-minded people. If further support were needed it may be found in the endorsement of this safety measure by the St. Louis Safety Council, the St. Louis Conference on Street and Highway Safety, the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, called by Secretary Hoover and the opinion of every authority on traffic problems.

The party speaks of "the fact that motor vehicle drivers are entitled to a few rights in the use of city streets." Passing over the question of the large quantity of "rights" which motor vehicle drivers have claimed from pedestrians in the use of highways, there remains the broad principle that "the greatest good to the greatest number" should prevail in all laws and regulations. Three to four persons use the street cars to every one riding in a motor vehicle. The car riders continue to be "the greatest number" by a comfortable margin. The real question in traffic safety problems, however, is not a matter of "rights" but of duties—duties to our fellow motorists, to the weak, courteous toward and consideration of the other fellow.

St. Louis has been listed as one of the American "cities with a soul." That soul will grow to its full stature when St. Louis demonstrates to the world, where its citizens can live and work and play with greater security to life and limb than any great city on the globe, where the life of one little child means more than the saving of two minutes by every driver of a vehicle. It is that pure sentiment, it is a sentiment echoed by the hearts of mothers and fathers throughout St. Louis.

Defective Electric Wires.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
On Oct. 14 your worthy paper published a letter from "Prevent Fire" on defective electric wires. I wish to state that it is a violation of the laws of St. Louis for any person to have any electrical work or wiring done in any building or cause to be installed on their premises any electrical wiring or other electrical work except by a licensed electrician or contractor. No one can even put a drop cord in their house with only one light on it if they are not a licensed electrician.

It also is a violation of the law to have any defective electric wires or apparatus in any building or garage in St. Louis. Anyone who is guilty of the above misdemeanors is subject to a fine of $100.

Anyone caught violating the above ordinance will be arrested and prosecuted by the Electric Inspectors of the Department of Public Utilities.

If anyone knows of anyone who is guilty of any of the above infractions of the law, let them notify the Chief Electrical Inspector, Room 103 City Hall, Phone Main 240 or 241.

Amateurs should "lay off."

CRIMES AND MISFIT PENALTIES.

While juries in first-degree murder cases are notoriously reluctant to impose the death penalty where there is the alternative of life imprisonment, the cases of Loeb and Leopold revealed that in certain atrocious murders trial before a jury is feared more than a plea of guilty before a Judge. Life imprisonment in these cases is eagerly accepted, even bargained for, in preference to trial.

In the recent case of Herbert Anderson in Judge Landwehr's court, a case in the class with those of Loeb and Leopold, in which Anderson hanged his 6-year-old victim an offer to plead guilty was made if the Judge would agree to life imprisonment. Anderson pleaded guilty and was so sentenced.

While the criminal statute provides the alternative penalties it is assumed that the Judge will apply them fearlessly, according to the circumstances of the particular murder; if the facts develop a case of unmitigated atrocity the Judge is left without choice and must apply the extreme penalty. Any other course defeats the whole punitive plan of criminal law.

"Life imprisonment" is no adequate penalty for such crimes as Anderson's because, through the universal abuse of the pardoning power, such a sentence no longer means imprisonment for life. Statistics will show that it probably means, eight, ten, rarely more than fifteen years.

In fact, in Missouri, under former Governors, and in many other states, pardons are granted wholesale on Thanksgiving Day or at Christmas, as acts of superior grace in supposed imitation of the clemency of heaven. And many good people applaud—and are expected to—this setting aside of the course of law, this sacrifice of public security, which, in its discrimination, makes every unpardoned offender appear as the victim of caprice and oppression.

And in the majority of cases it is not the two-year or short-term convict whose offending is less serious, who is the object of executive grace, but those sentenced for the longest terms for the more grievous crimes.

If reform is possible to a convict only when all hope of pardon is abandoned there must be very little of it in our penitentiaries.

HOW TO KEEP OUT OF THE PENITENTIARY.

To those who would avoid the fate of Charlotte A. Whitney, now on her way to the penitentiary for having political opinions contrary to the law-makers of California, we would suggest the following simple rules:

1. Don't swear at Coolidge in public.
2. Don't read such revolutionary documents as the Declaration of Independence.
3. Be courteous to your Congressman, tip your hat to your Senator.
4. When you see a policeman coming, cross the street. You may be a suspect.
5. Don't have any opinions about governmental affairs.
6. Keep off the grass.

IT HAPPENS FREQUENTLY.

He is known as the scientific better. Throughout the long hours of the morning his nose is buried in the racing form. He is making a systematic study, particularly of the horses in the fifth race. Toward noon he relaxes slightly and a smile spreads over his intellectual countenance. With a triumphant flourish he draws a ring around Old Dog. He is by a noted sire. His breeder is internationally known. He has run six furlongs faster than any horse in the race. He has beaten horses of a better class than his opponents today. In other words, Old Dog is a cinch.

Our hero rushes to the track and finds that Old Dog will be ridden by the best jockey at the track. He has not been assigned excessive weight. Minute by minute he examines the track and finds it lightning fast, the condition Old Dog likes best. On the basis of his future winnings he buys a pocketful of cigars and dashes to the paddock. There parades Old Dog looking fit and ready. In a few minutes the bugle will sound in the clear and frosty air. Now for the deed. Drawing a roll of bills from his pocket our hero gets in line to make his bet. Suddenly he is seized with an ungovernable fear. Beads of sweat appear on his massive brow. After all, he thinks, Old Dog isn't invincible. There's Bonnie Mary, in the same race, who may win. There's a ringing in our hero's ears and a strange sad light in his eye. Now he's second in line. "Ten dollars on Bonnie Mary," says the man ahead. Our hero suddenly perks up, with the expression of a man who has just had a hunch.

"Ten dollars on Bonnie Mary," he cries gaily. He is known as the scientific better.

THE TAX GOAT.

Martin R. Madden of Chicago talked on "The Nation's Pocketbook" at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. He knows his subject. There are few men in the country who know as much about the Government's expenditures and revenues as he does. He has had 20 years in Congress, and most of that time he has been on the Appropriations Committee, of which he is now chairman.

It is rather a pity that this talk was made before the Chamber of Commerce. It should have been made to a mass meeting of citizens who imagine they are not taxpayers. Such an audience would have had its posttaxpaying illusion hanged, electrocuted and cremated.

"The man who thinks he escapes paying taxes," said Mr. Madden, "is the man who really pays. He pays it in higher living costs, in higher rentals. He is the man who should be most interested in cutting the tax. The burden is passed on to him."

Some call this man the ultimate consumer, others call him the goat. He is wooed by many; by the demagogue who with clenched fists biligerently demands that the rich shall pay the taxes, by every variety of uplifter with a brand new benevolence for the Government to take on. So we pile on taxes and we plunge the Government into all sorts of paternalistic adventures, and the man who has no taxes to pay pays most of the taxes.

Mr. Madden correctly says that the solution rests with the people. If the people will demand economy in the administration of their public affairs they will get it. But more than that must be done. There must be prevention. We cannot have paternalistic government without paying the price. When Government taxes industry excessively the people must pay excessive prices for the products of industry. And ultimate consumer is the people.

ANOTHER LEAGUE TEST.

In the border row with Greece, Bulgaria has appealed to Greece for an inquiry into the facts, and to have the League of Nations appoint a neutral commission to investigate and fix the responsibility for the frontier disturbance. Thus, again, the League of Nations is serving as a buffer against war.

Greece, after the manner of old diplomacy, has sent an ultimatum, demanding indemnity, apology, a penalty, and fixing a time limit of 48 hours. Ultimatums of that kind are antiquated. There are two sides to the story, and the only way to settle responsibility is by impartial investigation.

Having just decided to settle all disputes between France and Germany, Germany and Belgium, Germany and Czechoslovakia and Germany and Poland by judicial hearings or arbitration, the League of Nations and Europe are not likely to look with complacency on the starting of a new war in the Balkans. Neither Greece nor Bulgaria is fit to go to war. Nothing has been done on the border that cannot be settled by arbitration.

One of the functions of the League of Nations is to look out for signs of war and take steps to avert it. It has high powers in that direction to place both economic and military pressure on the contending parties, if they attempt war action without listening to reason.

This flurry in the Balkans will be another test of the efficiency of the League to handle crises. As the Italian episode proved, it has difficulty in handling strong nations, and yet war was averted in that case, and there is little doubt that it will be able to hold in check Greece and Bulgaria. The incident, however, and the appeal to the League are fresh proofs of the value of the League as an agency for keeping the peace.

A CHURCH ROYALTY AVOIDED.

The Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church could not prevent the publicity given the Bishop Brown affair, but they did settle with a quietness gratifying to all churchmen of theirs and other denominations an aggravating ritualistic problem. We refer to the election of Bishop John Gardner Murray of Maryland, a conservative low churchman, as presiding head of the church.

There has been in America and in the Church of England, which is the parent of the American episcopate, a steadily growing controversy between two schools of thought. The controversy has reached such a pitch that in Leeds the other day low churchmen stormed a house of worship and tore down a crucifix. This low church party feels that within its denomination it is fighting the battle of Protestantism over again. The high church party, while disclaiming any desire to return to Rome, uses the mass, the reserved sacrament, incense and the confessional—all parts of the Roman Catholic ritual. High church clergymen use the appellation "Father" and wish to extend the power and influence of the priesthood.

Thus there is a large battleground on which are waged silent, discreet contests in many Episcopal dioceses. The church convention at New Orleans saw the two parties lined up for the struggle to name a Presiding Bishop. Yet it was all managed with such good taste, such scholarly repression on both sides, that the general public knew nothing of the importance or bitterness of the issue. It is to be hoped that these inward differences can be composed under Bishop Murray's leadership. At any rate, the church is complimented on its desire to keep doctrinal disputes behind closed doors, where they belong.

JOHN I. BEGGS, FLOWER LOVER.

What a pleasing surprise it was to discover, on the occasion of his funeral, that the late John I. Beggs, traction magnate, millionaire, hard-headed capitalist and hard-fisted political fighter, was also an ardent lover of flowers. His personal attorney in a tribute to the funeral service, told how John I., on his seventy-eighth birthday (Sept. 17), surrounded by his family and some of his friends, expressed the wish that Beggs like, with its profusion of trees and flowers, which he so zealously cultivated, might furnish the inspiration for the judgment of his friends as to himself, and from his pocket he brought forth and read the following poem:

The poem which followed, being in double quotation marks, was not ascribed to John I. but might have been his composition. It was entitled "Every Man's Garden." The first stanza runs:

Judge me not by what I've said,
Hot in rage or cold in dread;
Judge me not by what I've done,
Seeking goals that must be won.
Pray to moods and tempers quick,
Shame lies round about me thick.
But my garden lets you see Something of the better me.

This, followed by three more verses expressing his devotion to flowers and trees, in the care of which he asks us to "see me struggle to express all my dreams of loveliness," show a side of the man that allies him with those poetic souls that have rejoiced in flowers and trees, finding in them relief from care, and inspiration never failing.

Beggs' life may give pleasure to coming generations when John I. Beggs as a capitalist is forgotten.

LET'S HOPE THEY HAVE BURIED IT DEEP.

A Phantasy From the Mid-Pacific Ocean.
The moon has set her gorgeous sails
Against a star-flung sea;
She rides a golden galleon
Without an argosy;
Great Betelgeuse her port light—
And Pleiades her chest;
While Rigel on her starboard bow
Lights her to the West.

(Columbus or Pizarro
"Up from Fiddler's Green—
In her haunted cabin Silently converse.")

The moon's a shining brigantine
With all her canvas spread;
Her masts are burning orange
Or fabulous Peru;
Her topsails flaming red,
They're tugging at her capstan.
Her anchors are a-weight
For Zippango and the Indies.
For Persia and Cathay.

Magellan or Balboa
Upon her bridge may stand
Scanning the ocean
For sight of land.

She sails to rediscover
Brave continents anew;
Arabia and Turkistan,
Or fabulous Peru;
Across the smooth Pacific
She leaves her ghostly wake.
Seeking El Dorado
Till the dawn break.

A grizzled ghostly seaman
Hovers her singing lead
For a long captain
Long, long dead.

The moon has furled her silver sails
Far in the Western sky;
She dips her gallant ensign
When the dawn is nigh.
Her crew has vanished slowly
Before the rising sun.
Her captains brave to Fiddler's Green
Melt one by one.

WHAT THE Y STANDS FOR.

Sir: I find in your celebrated column the astounding fact that a society exists for the purpose of discovering my middle name. One might very naturally ask: "What difference does it make?" but one hesitates to offend such a large and belligerent body of citizens, regardless of the vanity of their purpose.

No scandal stalks behind the sinister Y. The facts are simple, and do me, if any thing, credit. By a curious circumstance I was born during the Cleveland administration. My parents, therefore, felt it would be highly fitting to name me after James K. Polk. That is the whole history of the matter. The Y stands for Smith. Trusting that this will set the question at rest, I am, etc.

A UNITED STATES OF EUROPE?

Sincere friends of Europe will view with alarm the feeling over there that the new peace treaty between the more belligerent countries of the continent probably implies a coming United States of Europe. We have a United States of America and a good many people will feel that the Europeans ought to look it over carefully before they go in for anything of the kind. Europe has wars, but she gets over them. There is quite a political kissing bee going on over there within less than 10 years after the greatest of all wars. She knows bitterness and poverty during and after these scraps—but she has intervals of lucidity and great happiness. Apparently she is entering upon one of those now. At the year ending June 30, 1925, reports a net gain of only 201,885. A number of countries did not fill their quotas. Czechoslovakia fell 17 per cent short of its allowance; Great Britain, 12 1/2 per cent; Italy, 21 per cent; and Sweden, 6 per cent. More significant still, 27,151 Italians returned to Italy, as against 6202 who came to America. In other words, life is more pleasant in Europe when it has any attraction at all. Europe has more freedom than we do, and there are not so many Nordics going about in bed sheets when the sun is down. What is the matter with us is not like war. It is something we do not get over. Does Europe want to be like that? Or would she rather be what she is? Does she know about our different crusades and cruelties each more terrible and more lasting in its influence than the siege of Troy? Does she know about Wayne Wheeler? Does she know about Indiana, which begins to look as if in the practice of freedom we will have to build a viaduct over it? Does she know about Kansas, where they have to bootleg cigarettes? Does she know about Michigan, where people who think what Horace Greely, Abraham Lincoln and others thought are made felons? Does she know about California, where you can be arrested for reading the Constitution of the United States and where a woman has just been sentenced to San Quentin for addressing a meeting of communists? Does she know about Tennessee, where a teacher was convicted for teaching evolution? Does she know about New York, which refused to seat three Socialists elected to the State Assembly from New York City? Does she know about West Virginia, which the coal barons hold by feudal rights? Does she ever hear of the Democratic National convention in Madison Square Garden, where the War of the Roses was fought over again? Does she know about Texas, where you can't play bridge on a moving train? Is she right sure she wants all these things? Or wouldn't she much better let that end enough alone?

EXCESSIVE TAXATION.

From the Duluth Herald.
THE State of Connecticut, to its credit, demonstrated again two facts that its notorious experience, it ought not to be necessary to demonstrate again. One that it is never profitable to be both whether you are an individual, a community, a state or a nation. The other that it is never sensible to be haggling applying taxation, because haggling always defeats itself. Levying taxes less than the traffic will bear does not bring in more revenue, but less. Somewhat the Connecticut Legislature thought he found a way to collect some easy money for tax-payers to spend. He put through a law applying a tax of $10 on every moving picture that comes into the state. It resulted in that most of the distributors packed up and moved to Boston or New York. Hundreds of employees have their jobs. An important industry is literally been driven out of the state. As a tax that if it had been reasonable, it would have produced important revenue, is gone the state nothing, but is losing it the way it is. The film industry is its foolish lawmakers have driven from the state. . . . The film industry, like any other legitimate industry, has a right to live and to be protected against exorbitant taxation. And the state is pouncing upon this or any other industry with a rapacious tax law deserves what has come to Connecticut as a result of its foolish tax on movie films.

IMMIGRATION INJUSTICE.

From the Baltimore Sun.
AN immigration official has a mean job. Out of the clear sky he is situations which make the public opinion him as a mixture of pigheaded obstinacy and superciliousness. For example, Patience Goodheart, 12 years old, was born in England to America without a passport, and so it would have been Edith for her if hasty telegrams and cables had not disclosed that the passport was en route by another ship. But if Patience had been sent back to England, whose would have been the fault? Is the law a cast-iron congressional enactment that cannot distinguish between a lawbreaker and a schoolgirl.

WASHINGTON AND BIG BUSINESS.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.
THE Department of Justice is not in a rage in "trust-busting" because of the mere sake of the sport. The recent announcement of Attorney-General Clegg has made that plain. Activity is to be limited to cases involving serious violations of the law, and not wasted upon mere complainers. It is stated that of the complaints investigated last year only seven were deemed worthy of legal prosecution. Even some of the cases tried turned out to be pretty weak in court. Some of the attitude of the department would have been denounced as truckling to "big business" if it had not been for the fact that the department is not "big business" has been charged with since then.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Better traction service is given in European countries than is provided in the United States, in the view of the special commission created by the Illinois Legislature last spring to inquire into the workings of the automobile permit for public utilities. All members of the commission, except Senator R. J. Barr of Joliet, returned to Chicago yesterday from a tour of Europe.

"Service is the big idea in the leading cities of Europe," said Senator E. J. Hughes of Chicago. "Whatever branch of the government supervises the conduct of public service corporations, the object everywhere seems to be the same. They are all always trying to get the public gets good service. MAIL ORDER SUNDAY SCHOOL
FOR CHILDREN IN COUNTRY

New Method Is Installed by Chicago Diocese of the Episcopal Church.

CHICAGO.—Religious instruction by mail for children in rural areas has been the solution of the problem of those who live too far away to attend Sunday School regularly. In the opinion of Miss Vera L. Noyes, supervisor of Religious Education in the Chicago Diocese of the Episcopal Church, the new method is a success.

Each week the pupils receive through the mail material which will not only cause the child to learn something, but also to think and do. The lessons are graded and planned to fit the needs of the various ages of childhood.

FAMOUS 'UNCLE IKE' IS ASKED TO RESIGN POSTOFFICE JOB

"Shepherd of the Hills" Character Has Held It 32 Years, and Is Now Age of 90.

BRANSON, Mo., Oct. 22.—Levy Morrill, famed as "Uncle Ike" in "Shepherd of the Hills," and for 32 years postmaster at Notch, near here, has been asked to resign by the Government. It has been learned that he is 90 years of age.

No waiver other than his age has been asked. "Uncle Ike" is in his ninetieth year, but his mind is clear and active. He erected his little postoffice building in 1894 when he first took office.

It is understood here that if no successor is appointed within a month the office will be discontinued. The pay is only $100 a year.

A petition is being signed by friends of "Uncle Ike," asking that the request for his resignation be reconsidered. Others are expected to intercede through congressmen.

WILL WED TONIGHT

Miss Esther Skinner.

MISS ALLEN LONSDALE, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Lonsdale of 4931 Lindell boulevard, will be the guest of honor at a dance to be given by Miss Evelyn Stewart, 5261 Washington boulevard, Tuesday, Dec. 22. The guests will be invited for 9 o'clock and will include some of the college set home for the holidays. Supper will follow the dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Lonsdale are giving informal Sunday evening teas for Miss Allen during the season.

ONE of three socially important weddings of this evening will be that of Miss Esther Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose A. Moody of 6563 Western avenue, and Randall Foster, member of the St. Louis Flying Club, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben R. Foster of 6163 McPherson avenue, to take place at 8 o'clock in the West Presbyterian Church, the Rev. William B. Lampe officiating. The date was chosen to celebrate the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The colorings of the decorations and gowns of the attendants will be typically autumnal. Brilliant autumn leaves combined with chrysanthemums will adorn the chancel, and a soft gold was chosen as the predominating shade in the arrangements.

Mrs. Malcolm Channing Rees of Boston, formerly Miss Eleanor Dodson of St. Louis, the matron of honor; Miss Carolyn Matthews, Mrs. Bronson Barrows, formerly Miss Elise Harwood, and Mrs. G. Alexander Hope, formerly Miss Katherine Foster, bridesmaids, are to be gowned in gold covered velvet and gold lace.

The gowns are simple in design with double pockets on either side of the skirt and lace set in the bodice. The bridesmaid will wear yellow chiffon trains from one shoulder, ending in a real yellow rose, and each carry yellow and white, with tall lighted candles, will be a background for the bride party, and the Rev. Dr. Russell Henry Stafford will perform the ceremony.

A pretty addition to the bride party will be six young women friends of the bride dressed in white, who will carry bands of ribbon tied with chrysanthemums to form an aisle to the improvised altar. They are to be Misses Anita Page, Winkler, Mary Towle, Potl, Mo.; Allen Lee Crouch Jr., Batesville, Ark.; Louise Ungert, Port Huron, Mich.; Virginia Novius and Gretchen Novius of Lidgerwood, N. D.

Miss Elsie Towle of Potomac, Mo., will be maid of honor, and Mrs. Ruth Morgens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Morgens, will be bridesmaid. The bridesmaid will wear lemon yellow satin and lace veiled in orchid chiffon with yellow ostrich and rhinestone trimmings. A soft blue chiffon over the veil will be carried by the bridesmaid.

They will carry orchid chrysanthemums. Mr. Sperry will be his son's best man, and Ralph Niemoller and Herman Nichols, groomsmen.

The bride will be gowned in white chiffon velvet embroidered in pearls cut to a V decollete in front and made with a panel back cut in points at the waist line and flaring to the hem. A court train of velvet depends from the shoulders and her tulle veil will be held by three rows of orange blossoms fastened in the hair. Her flowers will be lilies of the valley.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding include Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sperry, parents of the bridegroom; Mrs. Albert Sperry, the guest of Mrs. George Sperry; and Miss Louise Ungert, all of Port Huron; Herman Nichols, Farmington, Mich.; Mrs. Anna Robinson, grandmother of the bridegroom, and his aunt, Miss Emma Robinson of Los Angeles.

After a tour of the East, Mr. Sperry and his bride will make their home at 1231 Sixth street, Port Huron. Miss Skinner is a graduate of Washington University, and her fiancé of Michigan University, where he became a member of Sigma Chi.

At 8 o'clock this evening to the Fathers' and Mothers' Club of the Field School on "American Speech and What to Do About It," in the kindergarten of the school, Mrs. Clifford, who was Miss Georgia McAdams before her marriage, is a charming story teller, and will illustrate her talk.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 22.—David C. Willis, 53 years old, chairman of the board of the Federal Reserve Bank, Cleveland, died here today. He failed to survive an operation Friday, when an abdominal abscess was discovered and peritonitis already had set in.

RICHARD VARICK DEY, MINING OPERATOR, DIES AT AGE OF 91

He Was Former Guardian of Virginia Fair, Who Married William K. Vanderbilt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Richard Varick Dey of San Francisco, a former guardian of Virginia Fair, a California Senator's daughter, who married William K. Vanderbilt, died yesterday. He was 91 years old.

Day was a mining operator in the early days of the West. He went West in 1855. In 1869 he met James G. Fair in a mining town, the famous Virginia City, Nev.

Two years later he began work for Fair, John W. MacKay and William N. O'Brien, three noted California miners.

Dey's mining interests were extensive. His rights in the Grand Rees mines of Graham County, Arizona, which were estimated to be worth more than $1,000,000, were sold some years ago. In 1915, Dey came to New York describing himself as a young San Francisco bachelor, 81 years old. After the death of Mrs. Vanderbilt's mother, Mrs. Fair, he served as joint executor of her estate with John W. MacKay.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

From the Duluth Herald.

THE State of Connecticut, to its cost, has demonstrated again two facts that, after notoriety experience, it ought not to be necessary to demonstrate again. One is that it is never profitable to be unfair whether you are an individual, a community, a state or a nation. The other is that it is never sensible to be hogish in applying taxation, because hogishness always defeats itself. Levying taxes heavier than the traffic will bear does not bring in more revenue, but less. Somebody in the Connecticut Legislature thought he had found a way to collect some easy money for tax-payers to spend. He put through a law applying a tax of $10 on every moving picture that comes into the state. The result is that most of the distributors have packed up and moved to Boston or New York. Hundreds of employees have lost their jobs. An important industry has literally been driven out of the state. And a tax that, if it had been reasonable, might have produced important revenue, is getting the state nothing, but is losing it the profit and payrolls that it was enjoying from the industry its foolish lawmakers have driven from the state. * * * The film industry, like any other legitimate industry, has a right to live and to be protected against exorbitant taxation. And the state that pounces upon this or any other industry with a rapacious tax law deserves exactly what has come to Connecticut as a result of its foolish tax on movie films.

From the Baltimore Sun.

AN immigration official has a mighty mean job. Out of the clear sky come situations which make the public regard him as a mixture of pikehead obstinacy and supercilious foolishness. For example: Patience Goodheart, 12 years old, was sent from England to America without a passport, and so it would have been Ella Island for her if hasty telegrams and cablegrams had not disclosed that the passport was en route by another ship. But if Ella Island had been sent back to England, whose would have been the fault? Why the law—a cast-iron congressional statute that cannot distinguish between a bomb-thrower and a schoolgirl.

WASHINGTON AND BIG BUSINESS.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE Department of Justice is not to engage in "trust-busting" hereafter for the mere sake of the sport. The recent announcement of Attorney-General Sargent has made that plain. Activity is to be limited to cases involving serious violations of the law, and not wasted upon trivial complaints. It is stated that of the 210 complaints investigated last year only 10 were deemed worthy of legal proceedings. Even some of the cases tried turned out to be pretty weak in court. Some years ago the attitude of the department would have been denounced as trucking to "malefactor of great wealth." But the American feeling about "big business" has materially changed since then.

BRIDE SAYS SHE WAS TOLD TO LEAVE AFTER 3 MONTHS

Conrad B. Fox, president of the Fox Ignition Co., 2525 Washington boulevard, concluded that he did not like married life, and after three months of it he requested his wife to return to her parents, according to a divorce suit she filed at Clayton today. Fox will coun-test the suit.

The petition states they were married June 17 and that shortly thereafter he became indifferent
and remained away from home in the evenings. She requested an explanation and says he told her he did not want to be married and would appreciate her returning to her parents.

This she did, broken in health and spirit, the petition says. There was a reconciliation, and she returned to him, only to have him
again tell her to leave, she charges.
She asks for the restoration of her maiden name and $1000 gross alimony. She is living at 7052 Random avenue.

ACTIVITIES OF CHICAGO RING OF BLACKMAILERS INVESTIGATED

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Operations of a blackmail ring which piled on thousands of dollars, have been disclosed in a joint investigation by the police and Federal agents.

The attempt, with Louis Smith, proprietor of an automobile store, to kidnap a victim, seemingly designed to increase the ransom fund of Albert Anselmi and John Salice, gangsters on trial for killings two policemen. Smith was given the choice of bringing $5000 to a rendezvous or suffering death for himself and his family. With detectives he took a bogus package to the place named, but no one was found to take it. The threatening letter said the money would be used to save Anselmi and Salice.

Two wealthy bootleggers are reported to have met the blackmailers' demands and fled. Dan Perry, wounded recently by assassins who escaped, made settlement and fled to Florida, while another bootlegger, whose profits are placed by a newspaper at $1,000,000 in the last few months, paid $70,000 and went to Canada. Two men who attempted to extort money from wealthy parents by threatening harm to their children were given maximum sentences in Criminal Court yesterday. Harbert Colman, originator of the plot, was given from one to 20 years in the penitentiary, and Richard Reno, who carried the threatening letters, was sentenced to a year and fined $100.

Misses Jewelry After Fire. After a small fire in the basement of her home yesterday, Mrs. George Bischoff of 5832 Easton avenue reported to the police that jewelry valued at $200 was missing from her bedroom dresser.

PARADE THROUGH PARK TO TEST RESTRICTIONS

Morganford Business Association Wants Ruling Lifted to Avoid Long Detour.

Members of the Morganford Business Association, an organization of merchants on Morganford road, south of Arsenal street, plan to test the Park Department restriction on business vehicles, with a parade of approximately 50 light delivery trucks through Tower Grove Park Friday evening.

The parade will mark the opening of the first anniversary celebration of the association. There are 85 members in the organization, the majority of whom operate light delivery trucks. As a result of the restriction on business vehicles, deliveries on the north side of Tower Grove Park must be made by way of either Kingshighway or Grand boulevard, necessitating a detour of from one to two miles. The Morganford road merchants have asked city officials to lift the restriction on business vehicles over the north and south road through Tower Grove Park, from Tower Grove avenue to Arsenal street.

"We have been working for nearly a year to have the restriction lifted on this one road," Fred W. Freudenberg, a hardware merchant of 3181 Gravois avenue, spokesman for the association, said today. "Nothing has been done, so we decided to open our anniversary celebration with a parade through the park. The association will back any of its members arrested for violation of the restriction and we plan to fight the test cases to a decision."

SAILORS BID FAREWELL TO LAST OF CLIPPER SHIPS

Captain Hauls Down Flag, But Holds It Again—Vessel Going to Junk Pile.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A requiem was sung yesterday for an American institution.

The last American clipper ship has "set sail on her final voyage"—a journey from the sea to a junk pile. Within a few weeks she will be junked because she has outlived her usefulness.

A little group of sober-faced men of the sea, who had assembled her decks and oiled her masts in years gone by, comprised the few who gathered on the decks of the Benjamin F. Packard, last of the clippers, to bid her farewell.

Some little ceremony was planned. Captain D. J. Martin, who brought the Packard safely through her last trip was to haul down her ensign. He grasped the halyards, the little group in the waist faced aft, and with bared heads watched the ensign flutter to the deck.

But it did not stay down, for Capt. Martin sent it aloft again. It was a moment before anyone grasped just what was happening. That the clipper was to be permitted to go proudly to her doom with flags flying.

DON'T USE FIXERS TO GET CITY WORK, MILLER CAUTIONS

Mayor, Departing on Another Vacation Trip, Issues Statement of Advice to Firms.

JUDGES FORBIDDEN TO TALK OFF BENCH

Administration Interested in Price and Quality and Not in Frontiers, Executive Asserts.

Mayor Miller, before departing yesterday on his second vacation of the year—a hunting trip to Canada—left a statement that was issued from his office today in which he requests citizens and others seeking to do business with the municipal government not to employ "fixers and frontiers" to aid them in obtaining city contracts.

He also said that as a means of thwarting fixers, police judges have been instructed not to discuss cases outside their courts.

These practices, said the Mayor, are costly and useless and should be abolished.

The text of the statement, addressed to "all firms and persons doing business with or desiring to do business with the City of St. Louis and to citizens generally," follows:

"For many years firms desiring to do business with the municipal government have thought it necessary to make financial arrangements with outside persons (commonly known as fixers and frontiers) to secure city contracts. This has added materially to the cost of government, but the system is wrong and should be abolished.

Plea Against Fixers.
"All firms or persons desiring to do business with the city through the Board of Public Service or any other department under the jurisdiction of the Mayor are specifically requested not to employ or pay or agree to pay anyone for the purpose of getting a contract.

"The city is interested in price and quality, not in fixers and frontiers. There is no one who can secure special concessions or special action contrary to the charter and ordinances.

"A great many citizens, when they have some matters to discuss with officials, have been accustomed to paying somebody to get for them that to which they are justly entitled. Each individual citizen is entitled to the same courtesy and same privileges, and we prefer that whenever a citizen has any request to make of any public official, that he make the request personally.

"The Judges of the City (Police) Courts have been instructed not to discuss, except in open court, any cases brought before their courts. They have been instructed to treat all alike. Fixers and frontiers only handicap the work of the city government and their efforts are useless.

Invites Co-operation.
"It will co-operate with the government in saving money and a more wholesome respect for our municipal government will be inculcated in our citizenship.

"I ask all to co-operate with us in these matters."

Neun Acting Mayor While Miller Goes Bear-Hunting.
While Mayor Miller is on a 10-day bear hunt in Canada, President Neun of the Board of Aldermen is Acting Mayor.

The Mayor will be the guest of Edward Bridges, president of the Bridges Asphalt Paving Co., which recently completed paving Kingshighway between Arsenal street and Deansville avenue at a cost of $83,000. Bridges owns a hunting lodge at MacGregor's Bay and left St. Louis Saturday to prepare for the visit of the Mayor and his friends.

Members of the Party.
Included in the party with the Mayor were Adrian W. Frazier, president of the Frazier-Davis Construction Co.; C. A. Homer, vice president of the Missouri Portland Cement Co.; G. Locke, Tarleton, owner of the Central Paving Co., the Missouri White Paving Co., and other paving companies in East St. Louis; Len W. Harlow, general manager of the Southern Surety Co., in which Mayor Miller once served; and the largest stockholder, but subsequently told a Post-Dispatch reporter his interest had been terminated; John Fitzgerald, superintendent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, and a director of the Terminal Railroad Association; Frederick Pittman of the Pittman Surveying and Engineering Co., and his brother, Dr. Marsh Pittman.

Frazier Won Contract.
Frazier, who has been a staunch supporter of the Mayor in his campaigns for public office, was awarded the contract for the construction of the new 100,000,000-gallon reservoir at the new Missouri River waterworks. His bid was $1,160,000. Bridges has other municipal street paving contracts totaling $185,356. "I've never shot a bear in my

BEARDED WOMAN IS DEAD; MIDWINTER SON AT FUNERAL

Pounds the Dwarf's Guardian.
Is Among Mourners.
DRUMMOND, Ok., Oct. 22.—Funeral services were held in the Congregational Church here yesterday by the pastor of a German Evangelical Church for Mrs. Silvana Barsey, 59 years old, the bearded lady, who played to countless thousands in the sidewalks of cities. Drummond is a town of 200 inhabitants.

It was an unusual funeral. Many attended to get a last look at the woman, who had a beard covering her chin and jaws six inches long. It was iron gray and heavy.

On the morrow's bench was her only son, Baron Nieu Barsey, 40 years old, 28 inches high and weighing 52 pounds. Beside him sat William Bassett, a Drummond business man, who weighs 296 pounds, the only man to whom the madame would entrust her dwarf son.

Madame Barsey was a native of Hungary. She came to this country in 1906. The story goes that her husband was a Hungarian nobleman who lost a fortune on the stock market and brought his bearded wife and midwife son to this country to recuperate his fortune by managing them in side shows.

He was successful to a degree. He died several years ago and his body was cremated and placed in a receptacle in New York. The body of his wife was taken to Kansas City to be cremated. The ashes to be placed beside those of her husband.

RUM QUEEN FREED ON BOND

Miss Gertrude Lythgoe is charged with Dr. Law Conspiracy.
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22.—Miss Gertrude Lythgoe, self-styled "rum queen," has laid her cards on the table. After 24 hours quizzing and cross-questioning, she has returned to her home in Ohio to await action of the Federal Court here. Miss Lythgoe has given bond. The amount and identity of the bondman was kept secret.

Miss Lythgoe's actions and statements will be kept under cover by the Government. W. G. Borah, United States attorney, and A. N. Sager, assistant attorney-general, said today. Miss Lythgoe was charged under the Federal act with conspiracy with five alleged bootleggers from Havana. Judge Hawkins will open Federal Court here about Nov. 15 for liquor trials and it is expected the Lythgoe indictment will be among the first to come before the bench.

No Poison in Mrs. Biddle's Body.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—Chemical analysis of the vital organs of Mrs. Craig Biddle, a 30-year-old woman, who died here Saturday night under circumstances resulting in a police investigation, failed to disclose any trace of poison. An official report to this effect was submitted to the County Chemist to the District Attorney and to the County Coroner yesterday.

Pennsylvania Train in Crash.
By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 22.—A Pennsylvania passenger train, bound from Pittsburgh to Cleveland, collided with a switch engine 15 miles south of here early today. Passengers were shaken, but escaped serious injury. A dense fog is believed to have obscured the vision of the engineers.

"The Mayor said to a Post-Dispatch reporter as the party was leaving. "This is only the second time I've been hunting in my life. I'm paying my own way on this trip and when I'm done, I'm doing the right thing. I don't have to care what anyone thinks about it. I've given the city my time from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily."

The party occupied the private car of President Henry Miller of the Terminal Railroad Association, offered through Fitzgerald, who is a Terminal director. It was routed over the Wabash for Detroit and left at 6:30 p. m.

SAYS TOOTH DECAY GOES WITH CANNED FOOD

Speaker at Health Meeting Cites Failure to Find Bad Teeth in Iceland.

Faulty habits of eating are the fundamental basis of a great defect in American health, Assistant Superintendent Shackelford of the St. Louis Public Schools, declared today in an address at a sectional meeting of the American Public Health Association.

Assistant Superintendent Shackelford indicated the extent of this defect by the fact that 47 per cent of young men drafted for the World War were rejected upon physical examination, and 80 per cent of children entering the public schools had, in some respects, poor health.

He attacked the toothbrush theory. In discussing mineral elements as the first of five "critical factors" in diet, the old slogan that clean teeth never decay in the light of this knowledge becomes the veriest nonsense, he asserted. "A clean tooth does decay. The tooth brush has a very small contribution to make toward the prevention of dental caries. It is an elegance in ordinary social life without any question, but is not the remedy for dental caries. The bow legs which we meet on the street, the stooped shoulders and swollen chest are all the condition of a rickety condition in childhood, of a faulty calcium diet in adult life, and bear mute testimony to the fact that this mineral has been deficient in the diet of a large number of children as well as adults."

Dental Decay With Canned Foods

His examination last summer of the skulls of 96 Icelanders of the tenth to fifteenth centuries, brought back by an explorer, had shown that there was not one decayed tooth among them. In those times the people of Iceland lived upon milk and wild birds' eggs, with the scanty vegetable diet of the short summer. He said further investigation had shown that dental decay was unknown in Iceland down to 1850, when, upon the introduction of milled cereals and canned goods, there came an onset of dental caries. "The diet of this land as well as all other countries that 'live on white bread and the contents of tin cans.'"

Elimination of a certain amount of calcium daily is unchecked by lack of calcium in the diet, he explained, and goes on at the expense of the bony structure of the body. He added that it had been demonstrated that the heart beat was controlled by a proper balance of the salts of sodium, potassium and calcium, and that a disturbance of this balance, "since we are continuously on the border land of calcium starvation," might account for some of the deaths caused by heart failure.

Other Minerals Needed.
"Another mineral for which we are always on the point of starvation is iodine," he said, citing the reduction in the percentage of goitre among Swiss children in one year from 87 to 13 per cent by administration of iodine.

"The salts of iodine are all soluble and have been leached out of the rocks and carried to the sea. That, for the most part, there are not even traces of iodine in the foods grown in inland soil. This must be supplied by deliberate provision to meet the requirement, and is supplied in various ways. There is no longer any need for simple goitre in inland cities, since means of prevention are so satisfactory."

"But where shall the other critical mineral elements be obtained? For children there is but one source of calcium and that is milk. There is more calcium in a quart of milk than in a quart of any other food. Recent studies have shown that while for the adult there is an abundance of calcium in the green leaves of plants suitable for human food, the child is unable to break up this calcium and to use it for his own body. The adult may get his calcium from this source but the child cannot. The only satisfactory source for children is milk, and yet the amount of milk consumed by the children of America is woefully short of this requirement. We need not wonder then that 80 per cent of the children of America are afflicted with dental caries.

Real Butter an Essential.
Adequate proteins, he said, might be obtained from lean meat, milk and eggs, and from no other source in abundance. Turning to the vitamins, he emphasized that eating of real butter was essential in obtaining an important food element. "Vitamin A" may be had also from the leaves of green plants and occurs in wide distribution, though not in abundance, in the tomato and many other foods, but children must rely chiefly upon butter and the juice of the tomato for a requisite amount.

The absence of vitamin C results in the specific deficiency diseases known as scurvy. The absence of vitamin B results in specific deficiency diseases known as polyneuritis in the animal kingdom and beriberi in the human family. The absence of vitamin A results in a specific deficiency disease known as xerophthalmia, a disease of the eye ultimately leading to blindness. In the widely diversified diet of the American people there is nearly always enough of these vitamins to prevent a development of the specific diseases that result from their absence, but the partial starvation for these vitamins brings about a lower resistance to diseases and retarded development that marks the condition of so large a number of children as well as grown people. Vitamin C has been almost entirely destroyed in the process of pasteurization of milk. Babies who are fed on pasteurized milk must have their diet supplemented by some proper source of vitamin C. This can always be gotten from orange juice. There is no danger of so large a number of children as well as grown people that the regular use of oranges or grape fruit, furnishing a satisfactory source of vitamin C, as well as making a contribution to the presence of vitamin B. Vitamins A and B occur abundantly in milk where the diet of the cow is satisfactory, that is, where the cow is eating the green leaves of plants and is not being fed on dry food, but cannot be repeated too frequently. Vitamin C is destroyed in the process of pasteurization.

"This, I take it to be the first critical places in the problem that confronts us in trying to put over to the children of this city the knowledge that is necessary for a healthy living. And I believe this all mean in the life of the child, in the life of the adult. That it is possible to live and be well and develop our bodies as well as our minds to the highest degree of efficiency. It is possible to develop a resistance to diseases that will enable us to throw off in most cases a bacterial attack that would otherwise lead to colds, pneumonia, sinus trouble and all the whole family of ills of the respiratory tract."

Fire in Horse-Meat Packing Plant.
By the Associated Press.
ROCKFORD, Ill., Oct. 22.—Fire belched to have been incendiary, destroyed a four-story wing of Chappell Bros. Packing Plant early today, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. The company packs horse meat and it is the theory that rumors of cruelty to horses at the plant prompted a crank to fire the building. President William Lathrop of the local humane society, who visited the plant this week, said it was operated humanely.

CREW FROM BURNED SHIP DENIES DRUNKENNESS STORIES

Nothing Reprehensible in Conduct of Negro Sailors of Comanche, It Is Stated.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Sixty-six members of the crew of the steamship Comanche, which was burned off Florida last Saturday night, arriving in port today aboard the Cherokee, denied passengers' charges of drunkenness and cowardice by negro members of the crew.

Some members of the returning crew will give testimony at the Government steamboat inspectors' hearing.

Most of the crew members arriving on the Cherokee were negroes. Among the white members were Mrs. L. Christion, chief stewardess, and Mrs. H. Haber, a stewardess.

Sterling B. Martin, purser of the Comanche, returned with his left leg mangled as a result of lifeboats being crushed when caught between the Comanche and the Reaper, the rescuing ship. Martin was in the water for two and a half hours, clinging to wreckage until rescued.

Three musicians of the Comanche orchestra who played jazz music to keep up the morale of the passengers while the ship was burning also were members of the returning party.

Miss Christine B. Roberts of Bloomfield, N. J., was the only woman of the ship returning today. If she noticed any demoralization among the negro sailors, Miss Roberts said:

"We did not see any of the negro sailors who were below the fighting line. As for the white members of the crew with whom we came in contact, they were just as comradely as they could be."

She said that while there was natural excitement, there was nothing done by the crew, either negroes or whites, that would reflect upon the crew of the ship. The negro section of the crew, questioned in a body, said their last first drill was only two and a half days before the fire.

AIR EXPERTS SEE MERIT IN FORD'S DIRIGIBLE

Secretary Wilbur of Navy Well Disposed Toward Craft, Use of Which Is Urged.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—C. R. Pritchett, general manager of the Aircraft Development Co., Henry Ford's aircraft concern, conferred with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur yesterday, urging action on the proposal that the navy build a small all-metal dirigible.

Experts of the Bureau of Aeronautics are making a careful study of the Ford dirigible with a view to determining whether a recommendation shall be submitted for the construction of an experimental dirigible of this type, which has become popularly known in naval flying circles as the "tin-clad" rigid. It is conceded that the all-metal dirigible, completed designs and a model of which were submitted to the Navy Department by Ford engineers some time ago, has merit.

Secretary Wilbur personally is well disposed toward the Ford dirigible, feeling that with the engineering staff at his command, Ford would not have carried on experiments for three years unless satisfied he was on the right track. The air experts of the navy, however, must determine the practicability of such a rigid craft from a military standpoint. The Ford ship would be about 150 feet long and have a gas capacity of approximately 250,000 cubic feet. It represents a radical departure in dirigible design, making use of a diaphragm to control gas pressure. The designers figure on a cruising radius of 2000 miles.

IRISH FREE STATE PRESIDENT RECEIVED BY THE PONTIFF
Pope at Audience With Cosgrave Praises Manifestation Shown in Pilgrimage of 800.

Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., New York World Telegram & Sun, Inc.
ROME, Oct. 22.—President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, accompanied by his wife and suite, was received by the Pope yesterday. Archbishop Caselli made the presentation.

The audience lacked the ceremonial usages generally observed when His Holiness receives the head of a state because President Cosgrave is here as a simple pilgrim, but during the 15 minutes the Pope asked many questions concerning Ireland's progress and expressed his view of the country's improvement. He then praised President Cosgrave's piety and the national manifestation of faith shown in the present pilgrimage of 800 persons from Ireland.

After Cosgrave left the Pontiff's presence the remainder of the Irish pilgrimage was admitted. Emerging from the Vatican Palace, Cosgrave said: "I am not here on a political mission, but purely for religious purposes and will not talk about anything. I am doing the whole pilgrimage with the rest of my countrymen, visiting all the Basilicas as a Catholic should, and I can tell you it takes up all my time and thoughts."

DYNAMITE AND POISON SENT TO PRISON FARM GANGSTERS Postoffice Inspectors Investigating Source of Outside Aid in Plot to Escape.
By the Associated Press.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 22.—Several arrests are expected to result from an investigation being conducted by Postoffice Inspectors into efforts made last week to aid the Birchfield gang of bank robbers and murderers in escaping from the State prison farm at Tucker. The inspectors will hunt for persons who mailed a quantity of dynamite, fuses and ropes and poison to members of the gang. The dynamite and poison was seized in the prison more than a week ago before it was delivered to the prisoners. Discovery of the preparations for the jail delivery was not made public until yesterday.

John Birchfield, under sentence of life imprisonment for a slaying during a bank robbery at Sulphur Springs several months ago, is the leader of the convicts. Had the escape plans been carried out dynamite would have been exploded in a doorway between the prison dining hall and Swiss canteen building. The prisoners had hoped to escape during the resultant confusion. The poison was to have been placed in the prison drinking water containers.

BANK EXAMINING
STAFF TOO SMALL,
FRENCH DECLARES

Only 1017 of the 1677 Institutions in State Inspected Last Year, Says Finance Chief.

If the State Finance Department had enough examiners to examine all the banks, trust companies and building and loan associations in Missouri annually, it would be a revenue-producing department. Finance Commissioner French told the yearly gathering of group five of the Missouri Bankers' Association at the Century Hotel
Club yesterday afternoon.

As it is, the Commissioner said,
there are only 25 examiners, and
last year they were able to examine only 1017 of the 1677 institutions in the State, leaving 660 un-examined. Furthermore, the department has to be supported from general revenues, as the examination fees received are insufficient.

Among banks not examined last year, the Commissioner went on,
were some of the largest ones in St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph. These pay the maximum examination fees, so that their contribution to the department's support would be material if there were enough examiners to visit them annually.

But the Legislature has fixed
the number of examiners, and on the Legislature French placed the blame for incomplete functioning of the department. "I maintain the department should not be revenue-producing," he said, "but if the Legislature would give it sufficient manpower it could be a handsome revenue-producing department."

Missouri has 1426 banks and trust companies, one private bank
and 250 building and loan associations, the Commissioner related.

The banks and trust companies have total resources of $89,897,- 000, and there are more banks under State control in Missouri than in any other state.

"Laws Too Liberal."
"Laws of Missouri are too liberal and there are not enough discretionary powers for the Finance Commissioner," French declared.

"No bank charter should be granted where capital is less than $25,- 000. A charter should be granted only after the commissioner has satisfied himself of the community's need for it and the fitness of the applicant. Instances have come to light where a bank was created to give an easy borrowing place for the officers, directors and stockholders."

"Many banks and trust companies
in Missouri have not been examined for two years and a few for five years. I prepared new report forms for confidential information,
with the idea that they might indicate what banks should be examined immediately. Much criticism has been directed at me for demanding these details, among other things, that I am trying to establish national bank supervision."

"Some amusing replies were received. One banker answered all the questions, 'I don't know.' An examiner was sent at once to introduce this bank to its officers and it required five days."

"There were seven banks delinquent at the end of the time for filing this report. They were fined at the rate of $100 a day for this, bringing in $1400. One banker told me frankly he didn't intend to make the report because it took too damned long."

Commissioner French told about his policy of summoning bankers
to Jefferson City when conferences were necessary, because he felt that was the proper practice. Instead of his going to the banks, and because it prevented local alarm that his presence might occasion. He declared that he would visit banks in trouble only in rare instances, and only if his presence would be helpful. Great care was exercised, he said, to avoid issuing unreasonable orders.

It is a mistake, the Commissioner declared, to leave an examiner
in charge of an insolvent bank after its books have been checked
and a copy of the examiner's report filed with the County Recorder. Instead, French favors putting a special Deputy Commissioner in charge. The Commissioner declared that no attempt had been made to involve him in politics.

Declaring that he had not had opportunity to formulate a program of reforms for submission to the Legislature, he suggested that the bankers sound out candidates for the Legislature as to their stand on the subject. The kind of supervision to be desired can be had,
he asserted, if bankers and business men will stir up the Legislature.

The bankers' association group, which comprises 362 institutions in St. Louis and 20 counties, approved the idea of county clearing houses and approved the idea of service charges for small checking accounts. Claude A. Eaton, vice president of the United States Bank of St. Louis, was elected group chairman, and A. A. Speer, president of the First National Bank of Jefferson City, secretary.
Irvin Gau and Warren Uthoff,
boys of Oakville, St. Louis County, comprising the champion farm demonstration team of the last State fair, demonstrated to the bankers the proper methods of raising tomatoes. They belong to the 4-H Club (Head, Heart, Health and Hand), which is sponsored by the bankers' association. They were introduced by County Agricultural Agent Hansen.

DECISION IN SUIT OVER FEKETE BUILDING

Structure in East St. Louis Valued at $70,000 Awarded to T. L. Fekete Sr.

The suit of Thomas F. Fekete Sr., Postmaster of East St. Louis, to establish his claim to ownership of an office building at 224 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, valued at $70,000, was decided in his favor by Circuit Judge Bernreuter at Belleville late yesterday.

Opposing the suit, and claiming the property for themselves, were Fekete's five sons and daughters, by his first wife, one of them Thomas L. Fekete Jr., attorney and member of the Illinois Legislature.

The building originally was the property of Dr. Alexander Fekete, father of Thomas L. Fekete Sr. Dr. Fekete transferred the property to his son's first wife, who transferred it to her son, Forrest. The present suit revolved around a purported declaration of trust by Forrest Fekete, setting forth that he held the property for his father, Thomas L. Fekete Sr.

Forrest Fekete died last March, after repudiating the purported declaration in favor of his father and executing one in favor of himself, his brothers and his sisters.

Allegations were made when the suit was tried this summer that Forrest Fekete's signature, as well as signatures of witnesses, had been forged to the declaration in favor of his father, and comparison was made of that signature and other signatures of Forrest Fekete, showing differences. As to this Judge Bernreuter ruled:

"The only conclusion that can reasonably be arrived at is that Forrest Fekete deliberately varied the said two capital letters from his usual hand for reasons known only to himself, and that the disputed document is not a forged instrument."

Reasoning of the Judge. Judge Bernreuter disclosed that his decision was reached by this reasoning: "If the signature of Forrest had been an attempted forgery by the same hand which forged the signatures of the witnesses, the forger would have approximated more nearly the correct signatures of Forrest Fekete."

NEW CARPENTERS' BUILDING READY FOR OCCUPANCY NOV. 1

One of Most Modern Structures of Its Kind and Represents $250,000 Investment.

The new Carpenters' Building, erected by the Carpenters' District Council at the southwest corner of Grand boulevard and Cozans avenue, will be occupied Nov. 1. It was announced by officers of the council.

The building is two stories, of brick, and fronts 125 feet on Grand boulevard and 120 feet on Cozans avenue. It represents an investment of $250,000, and contains an auditorium and three smaller halls. Ten stores on the first floor and twenty offices above will be leased.

The labor organizations occupying the building, the most modern of its kind in the city, will be the seven locals comprising the Carpenters' Council and the Plumbers' Union.

The old Carpenters' Building at 2024 Olive Street, will be sold. The new building was designed by Preston J. Bradshaw, St. Louis architect. Construction was begun last spring.

MAN FREED OF CHARGES BROUGHT BY STEPDAUGHTER

Girl Admits Anger Prompted Her to Tell False Story of Attack.

An instructed verdict of not guilty was returned today in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court, freeing Albert White, 40 years old, of Sikeston, of a charge of criminal attack brought by his stepdaughter, Estelle White, 12 years old.

The girl repudiated on the witness stand the story she told at the time the warrant was issued. She originally told a false story, she said, because she was angry at her stepfather.

CHRYSLER FOUR

Performance and Beauty That Appeal to Those Who Know

The nation-wide popularity of this new quality Four is due to the enthusiasm of men and women who say they have never seen its equal for comfort, beauty, ease of handling and performance.

These characteristics, so uniquely Chrysler, are the result of the application for the first time of the proved scientific engineering of its famous companion car, the Chrysler Six, to four-cylinder practice. Linked to this is a degree of manufacturing skill and accuracy found only in Chrysler products.

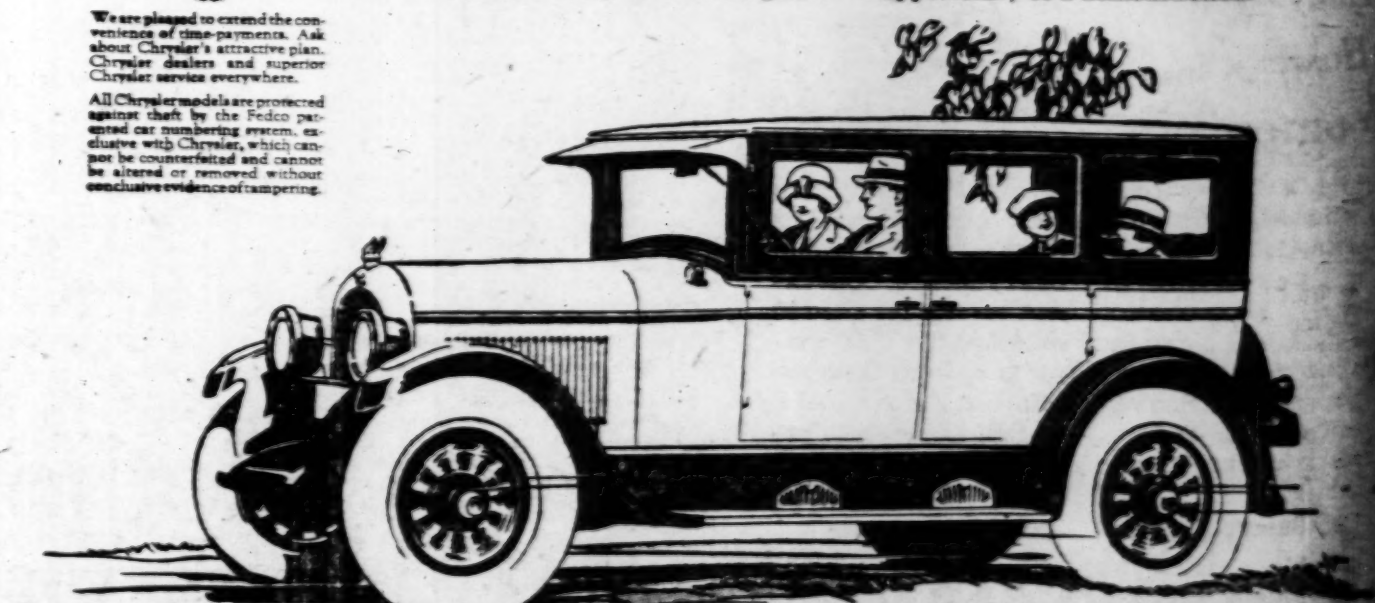

Women who like fine things are captivated by the Chrysler Four beauty of line and coloring, by its restful riding and handling—the result of Chrysler-designed spring suspension and pivotal steering, together with balloon tires. They appreciate in particular the greater safety of Chrysler hydraulic four-wheel brakes, furnished on this new Four at slight extra cost for the first time on any car of like price.

They enjoy its freedom from shock and rumble in the closed model. Sense of vibration is wiped out by specially-designed insulation of the motor from the frame.

Modish Fisher Bodies, planned and built for utmost comfort and roominess, are further cause for Chrysler's wide-spread popularity with men as well as with women—a popularity for which even a Chrysler production of 800 cars a day has proved inadequate.

Test these distinctive Chrysler Four advantages yourself. We welcome the opportunity of a demonstration.

STORY ALL WRONG ON WHICH HE GOT $1000

Joseph Schrader Disclaims Responsibility for Thrilling Account of Holdup.

Even if the East St. Louis bank detective, Joseph Schrader, was the winner of a $1000 reward and a gold medal in the "hero" contest conducted by Liberty, a magazine, he is willing to join with other East Side officers in protesting that the account of his "heroism" greatly exaggerated the facts in the case. Schrader's reward was based on a thrilling account, as told by a Liberty representative, of an attempted holdup of Hunter Riley, cashier of the Venice State Bank, near C. & A. station at Venice, on Aug. 25. Four holdup men were captured in a "plant" of policemen and later indicted in the robbery.

Story All Wrong, He Says.
Liberty, in making the award, credited the capture of the men to Schrader after a running fight, in which it was stated 44 bullets from Schrader's rifle riddled the robbers' automobile. "The story all wrong," Schrader said yesterday. "I fired only one shot. Just as I did a woman and a girl ran across the street and I was afraid of hitting them. The Liberty people sent a man down here and I gave them the correct story. So did Hunter Riley. I wrote down the names of all the other officers who took part in the capture of the robbers. They didn't print one of them. The story is all wrong and apparently they fixed it up to suit themselves. I'm not to blame for that."

Occasion for Statement.
Schrader's remarks were called forth by the action of M. A. Clifford, Chief of Police at Venice, who has forwarded to the Chicago magazine an affidavit setting forth the facts in the case. In his affidavit he recites that the robbers, after holding up Riley, drove past Schrader and his companions and were on a fair way to get away when Officers Hartman and Gray of the Venice department fired a charge into the machine. They were the ones who captured the four bandits and Schrader was two blocks away.

Schrader says he was only half a block away when the men were finally stopped.

NEWKIRK, Ok., Oct. 22.—The Rev. I. L. Manning, minister-policeman of Braman, an oil-boom town near here, was found not guilty yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to kill Manning was arrested last April after he shot Arthur Farril, whom he was attempting to arrest.

The minister testified that he found Farril driving his car up and down the main street of the town at a furious rate, apparently intoxicated. He said he called on Farril to stop, and that the latter deliberately ran him down with the car. After that the minister said he arose and fired two shots at the machine, one of which struck Farril in the shoulder. Farril denied he was speeding or intoxicated, and said he did not hear the command to stop.

Children of school age to the number of 627 have been taken into custody during the last two days and their parents fined for not having seen to it that they attended classes. The Department of the Interior announces that an active investigation of child labor has begun.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

MRS. DONAHUE TELLS GRAND JURY ABOUT LOSS OF JEWELS

Inquiry Being Conducted into Ransom of Gems Valued at $683,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—While
the police searched New York for
"Sam Layton," the grand jury yesterday opened a John Doe investigation of the ransom of the purloined Donahue jewels, valued at $683,000.

The District Attorney's office
was without a sign or shadow of Sam Layton, to whom Noel Scaffa, private detective for the Federal Insurance Co., said he paid $65,000
for return of the precious stones to him Oct. 7 in Room 416
of the Prince George Hotel.

Mrs. James P. Donahue, heiress of the Woolworth millions, was before the grand jury for 40 minutes and told the circumstances
under which her two strings of pearls were abstracted from her dressing table in the Hotel Plaza, Sept. 30.

Donahue, a Park avenue broker,
will go before the grand jury today.

Pecora said Scaffa would not be called and added: "If he insists on appearing before the grand jury, I will insist on his signing a waiver of immunity."

The question of what happened to the precious gems between Oct.
7, when Scaffa paid $65,000 for them, and Oct. 13, when he presented them to Inspector John D.
Coughlin at police headquarters,
was not to Pecora.

"According to information given me," he replied, "they were kept during that time in a vault of the Federal Insurance Co."

During those six days the police were working in the dark on the Donahue case.

SUIT REVEALS INTRICACIES OF BOOTLEGGING FINANCE

East St. Louisan Says Monthly Profit Was $600, but Men to Whom He Gave Keys Owe $200.

Repeated references to the "business" in which he and his wife had been engaged elicited an explanation of the intricacies of bootlegging finance from James A. Nimerick, of 107 1/2 Collinsville avenue,
yesterday in the East St. Louis City Court, where a division of property between Nimerick and Mrs. Ruby Nimerick, from whom he was divorced Friday, is taking place.

The business consisted in selling beer and whisky in an establishment on Collinsville avenue, and was in existence some 15 months, bringing in a monthly profit of $600 or $700.

Nimerick stated that he had offered refreshments at 50 cents a quart, though when the price of ingredients went up he had to charge more. Nimierick told the court that he had some $200 due him from the seven men to whom he had issued keys to enable them
to gain admittance to the establishment after hours.

A hunting dog, another dog named Fluff, a canary and a percolator are claimed by Mrs. Nimerick as a half share to which she is entitled for having managed the place, but Nimierick insists that he is entitled to more than half because it was he who had charge of the business end.

GETS A YEAR ON REPORT OF BOAST HE HAD DRAG IN COURT

James Tisius Before Judge on Charge of Failure to Provide for Small Daughter.

Judge Miller of the Court of Criminal Correction today told a defendant before him on a charge of failure to support a child that he had been informed the defendant boasted of a "drag" with the court.

The defendant, James Tisius, a plumber, of 4755 Cote Brillante avenue, denied this, but Judge Miller replied:

"Well, if you have a drag you'd better get it working now. I'm going to give you a year in the workhouse."

Tisius' wife, Mrs. Susie Tisius,
who lives at 5209 North Market street, testified that Tisius left her a year ago, failing to provide for their daughter, Evelyn, 12 years old. Mrs. Tisius, who has supported herself by keeping a restaurant,
declared her husband when asked to provide for the child, said he could not do it.

Mrs. Susan Candier, Mrs. Tisius'
mother, testified Mrs. Tisius had been paying her $5 a week to care for the child. Tisius asserted he had been ill and could not afford to support his daughter.

Words can't express my gratitude

FRENCH DEBT PLAN MAY NOT DEPEND UPON REPARATIONS

New Proposal on U. S.
Settlement Not Likely to Be Based on What Germany Pays.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 22.—Belief that a new plan which Finance Minister Caillaux proposes to submit to the American Debt Commission would involve larger annual payments
than previous French proposals was general in political circles today.

On the other hand it is known that Caillaux feels that even the temporary arrangement offered by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon would be better than any plan involving higher payments unless such a plan carried some sort of insurance against the crippling of French financial resources.

In view of the fact that many members of the French parliament are vigorously opposed to the temporary arrangement it will not be submitted to parliament. Instead, there will be a new proposal which is expected to be a definite refunding measure covering 82 years.

This proposal will be forwarded
shortly probably after the reopening of the Chamber of Deputies next Thursday.

Although at the recent radical congress in Nice there was some demand that France should undertake to pay no more on her war debts than she received in German reparations, the belief prevails that Caillaux will not consider this when he next approaches Washington and also that he will not attempt to couple up war debt payments with reparations.

It is asserted that the finance minister is not willing to put off
a renewal of the debt negotiations
until domestic problems have been smoothed over, although it is generally agreed that France's capacity to pay will depend on a solution of the pressing difficulties of the treasury.

Italian Debt Mission Starts Its Journey to Washington.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Oct. 22.—Members of the Italian Debt Commission departed today for Washington,
where they will attempt to negotiate a settlement of what Italy owes the United States. Many officials and friends expressed wishes for a satisfactory result of the mission
as the mission's special train left for Naples, where the delegation sailed on the Duilio. All members of the Cabinet had the mission
farewell except Premier Mussolini,
but he had a long conference last night with Count Volpi, Finance Minister, head of the mission.

Wishes for a permanent settlement and not a temporary arrangement have been expressed by Count Volpi.

The delegation numbers 22, besides an escort of two noncommis-sioned officers. Volpi is accompanied by his wife.

The delegates include Signor Grandi, Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, who attended the Lo-carno conference; Ambassador Bonin Longare and Alberto Pirilli, member of a rubber firm, with general financial experts, and an American, Edith Fulsom, among the secretaries.

Vicenzo Perri, financial expert,
has published figures indicating that Italy's national wealth does not exceed $6,000,000,000 lire, a year, about $3,600,000,000. Of this total, citizens are obliged to spend 55 per cent for food, with other necessities, leaves a possible
annual saving of only 10,000,000, 600 lire, about $400,000,000. But as this represents the country's fire reserve, it is argued, the question the delegation must settle in Washington is what portion of it can be sent yearly to America without ruining Italy.

Senator Einaudi, leading Italian
economist, warns the country
against the dangers of consenting
to a "suicidal" agreement just to say the debt has been funded. Examining the possibilities of United States sanctions against recalcitrant debtors, Einaudi has decided
there are only three possible: Immigration veto, loan embargo and tariff wall.

None of these, he says, could possibly harm any European debt-
or because immigration restriction
has reached its highest limit of severity. American loans would only harm Europe by encouraging extravagance and discouraging independent effort, and America tariffs already completely exclude foreign goods. Therefore, he says, no effective sanctions exist against debtor countries refusing to accept unacceptable conditions.

Three Soviet Officials Hurt in Crash.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Oct. 22.—F. M. Ciroul,
chief of the Moscow militia; M.
Averanoff, head of the administrative department of the Moscow Soviet, and M. Perov, chief of the Moscow fire department, suffered serious injuries today when their automobile ran into a trolley pillar in a Moscow suburb. Ciroul and Averanoff are in a critical condition, the former with a fractured skull.

Nature's Way of Telling You of "Danger Ahead."
J. H. Sanford, 7155 Yale Av., Chicago, Ill., says: "For two years I have been troubled with gravel; was disturbed caused me to get up eight to twelve times
at night, and it was very painful. Lithiol Bichro cleared me up in one week. I will be glad to tell or write my experience." Lithi-ol Bichro is not a potent medicine, as the formula is on the label.
It cleanses the bladder as soon as it develops, neutralizing excess acid, thereby relieving irritation, which causes disturbed sleep. It is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each at all drug stores. Keller

HOW TO JUDGE HOSIERY WISELY

The clever way to make comparisons. How to get the utmost in value. How to analyze this important part of your apparel budget.

"What need I pay," many women are asking, "to get good hosiery?" "Why do I have to buy
so many pairs?" "Is hosiery dimmer, poorer than formerly?"
The answers are not so difficult as they seem. There are a few simple guides which everyone should know and follow.

The situation appears confusing but it is largely made so because of wild claims which one can easily analyze and come to the real truth.

Much can be saved every year
if one will shop more cautiously.

First, discount all wild claims.
For instance, there is the subject of "full fashioned." The genuine
"full fashioned" hosiery is hosiery which is knit to conform to the shape of the leg. Look for the seam which extends from toe-tip to top of stocking.

Imitation "full fashioned" is the old style tubular hosiery
with a fake seam merely up the back. There is no seam on the bottom of the foot.

The genuine "full fashioned"
hosiery keeps its shape—while the tubular loses its shape after the first washing.

The chief guarantee in getting genuine "full fashioned" hosiery
is the label of the manufacturer.
For instance, when you buy Kayser hosiery you are guaranteed the genuine "full fashioned."

"Pure silk"—any one can claim.

"Pure dyes"—any one can
claim.

So when one goes to the counter to buy, one cannot always tell by "feel" and "looks."

Some hosiery is weighted so as to make it feel heavier. If there is any skimping on the dyes—if pure dyes are not used—the fabric will rot and the life of the hosiery is shortened.

Again, your guarantee that the hosiery you buy is pure silk and that pure dyes are used, depends upon the label of the manufacturer. When you wear Kayser, you are guaranteed pure silk and pure dyes—and you need have no doubts—you run no risk.

Your pocketbook will prove to you that pure silk and pure dyes
give long wear and economy.

As to price?

To pay less than $1.50 is extravagance. For that amount you can get a very satisfactory hosiery—
full fashioned—pure silk and pure dyes.

Naturally, if you pay more you get a higher grade with clocking, lace panels, etc.

What about "runs"? This is a constant annoyance to every woman. How disappointing it is to pay good money for a pair of hosiery only to find after wearing them a few times, that garter runs appear.

A clever invention ends this annoyance. It is called the Marvel Stripe. This is an exclusive feature in Kayser Hosiery and saves every Kayser wearer from expense and annoyance.

Style features? To slenderize
the ankle, Kayser offers the Slipper Heel. This is a style feature which every woman appreciates.

Colors? While itemized last,
this is of first importance to every woman at this time because of the desire for ensemble matching.

All the wanted colors and tints
can be had in Kayser hosiery—
thus combining the mode of the moment with long wear and economy.

While the hosiery situation is apparently so confusing, you will realize that after all it is really a simple matter to reduce your annual hosiery budget—the first requisite being to decide always to buy a high grade brand.

To specify Kayser and to insist upon it—is a safe way—an economical way. You get the utmost in beauty, the latest colors, and also economy.

Kayser hosiery is made with the principle ever in mind which will make women gladly say:

"I prefer Kayser hosiery because I get the finest and I save about 25% per year."

You can buy fewer pairs if you buy Kayser because they last longer. In making such a saving you sacrifice nothing to shrewdness
and luxury.

If, like thousands upon thousands of other women, you will wear Kayser hosiery for a year,
your pocketbook and your calendar will prove to you that there need be no puzzling questions in your mind as to how to judge hosiery wisely.

STRUCTURE BUILT IN 1852 BY COOLIES STILL IN USE

Brokerage Firm Making Interior Alterations on Quaint Building in San Francisco.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—A brokerage firm is making interior alterations in the Parrott Building, a structure built in 1852 of stones brought from China.

When the ship sailed in from Hongkong and landed at the single wharf the city then had, Chinese coolies attached the great stones to bamboo poles and carried them to the site. There was no derrick, and the stones were lifted into place by a primitive system of stones and ropes. But the coolies, directed by an American contractor, did a good job.

The little three-story building stood staunchly through the 72 years of progress. It was one of the few downtown to survive the earthquake and fire of 1906. It presents a strange contrast to the glossy surfaces of the giant structures of San Francisco's "Wall Street." Although the interior improvements are being made, the exterior, built to endure, will not be changed.

RUSSIAN FOLK SONGS REVIVED

Several Volumes of Them Have Been Printed Recently.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

OMSK, Siberia, Sept. 25.—Folk songs of the various nationalities making up the soviet republic are being revived and printed to a very considerable extent and are affording much interesting material for modern composers. Alexander Zarevitch recently published an unusual volume called "One Thousand Songs of the Kirghiz People." This is said to be the first time the songs of these 6,000,000 nomadic people, which roam over a great empire in Siberia, Mongolia, Turkestan and European Russia, have been recorded for the use of modern musicians.

The Kirghiz are supposed to be a blending of Mongolian, Tartar and Finnish blood, and their language is Turkish but has been much influenced by Chinese and Russian. A Konetchevsky has also published a collection of songs of the Crimean Tartars and songs of the Kazan Tartars and Tatars are being prepared for publication.

R. L. Lacey of Mount Vernon set the example for the Odd Fellows candidates by withdrawing in Kuhn's favor and the other three followed.

Among the Rebekehah six candidates withdrew, but Mrs. Higginbotham, counting on the heavy Chicago vote, stayed. The first ballot, however, elected her opponent, Mrs. Robins, by a landslide. The count was promptly made unanimous.

CLAIMANTS OF RIVER LAND AGAIN IN COURT

of the second suit over the famous Meramec River peninsula at Benton, Mo., four parties have laid claim. The suit was brought by County Attorney Fent Rudder and his son, Al, against Joseph Chott, who is a collector of taxes on Rudder's farm adjacent to the peninsula.

Chott claimed title to the land, some nine acres and worth $250, through squatting on the Rudder's peninsula. He claimed it as it was an accretion to his land. The county board had claimed it under an act of the legislature for the benefit of the public. The county's suit, however, was lost. Heirs of Rudder, who sold till other claims were dropped to assert their own title to the land. In high water and is an island and the rest of the time it is a peninsula extending from Rudder's farm. Rudder was the first to claim it. He testified to buying the land in 1901 and told how the acres had grown up by accretion since then. He cultivated the new land and always held it to be his own, under the act of accretion.

Just a year ago, he related, he and Chott squatted on the land. "This is Government land, I claim it," Chott told Rudder. Two days later Chott moved out and Rudder erected a fence around the land, but three days after Chott was back with his tent, the plaintiff said. "This is a Government land and I've been to Washington and found out about it," Chott declared.

Chott contends now that the land is an island, while the Rudder hold it to be part of the peninsula.

He presented a resolution on a proposed manual of instruction for proselytes which will admit non-Jews with the religion and enables prospective converts to obtain entrance without all customary requirements.

Higi and Levis Only Stars Who Will Be Missed

Squad of 25 Players Hopeful of Making a Showing Against Cadets.

By John H. Alexander.

Twenty-five members of the St. Louis University squad, accompanied by coaches and athletic aids, left on the Big Four at 10 o'clock this morning for West Point, where they will engage the Army eleven for the second successive year.

The party of players represents virtually the entire Billiken team, as it is confronted with the task of holding the conquerors of Notre Dame, Detroit University and Knox College, the best Army team since the war. The only one of the squad who is not expected to play is Coach Higgins of Washington University, who will lead a similar group of football men to Ames, Ia., where the Pike team is to play.

The Pike team is to play the leading team in the Missouri Valley Conference, Saturday. They will leave sometime tonight, after holding final practice this afternoon.

Sturbois Not to Face Ames.

Higgins has not announced which men will make the trip, but it is certain that his 215-pound back, Otto Sturbois, will not be on the list. Sturbois suffered a recurrence of his old ankle injury just as scrimmage was about to start last night and had to be sent off the field. Dr. Eber, after an examination, announced that it would be some time before the injured part would be serviceable.

Another regular player will be missing in the person of Max Starkie, who has been working out at end this year. Authorities at the medical school have advised him to give up football and devote the time to his studies, because of a chronic condition of the spine. Many fans count on Starkie's forward pass, which he has thrown with little effort.

Line Goes Over 100 Pounds

A powerful line, averaging 190 pounds from end to end, will be the backbone of the Billiken team. For many years the line has been the strongest of the conference, but much progress has been made this year in the line. The line is expected to be the backbone of the team.

180 SOCCER PLAYERS OUT AT PRINCETON

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 22.—Princeton has 180 varsity and non-varsity soccer players and 180 non-varsity players. Coach Logan, a former Washington University carman, has succeeded J. Duncan as rowing instructor.

Our New Ball Park.

WRAV'S

PHIL BALL, principal stockholder of the Browns, has carried out his promise to the fans to start something in the way of rebuilding Sportsman's Park. As told in the late edition of the Post-Dispatch yesterday, Ball has awarded contracts calling for increasing the seating capacity to 22,000, with a grandstand of 25,000, pavilion 3500 and bleachers 3200.

The entrance may be shifted to Spring and Sullivan avenues, where it was in 1902 when Robert Lee Hedges built his first park, with the stands completely enclosing the playing field.

The bleachers are to be along Sullivan avenue and the pavilion where the right field bleachers now are. Only a slight change in the layout of the diamond and foul lines will be made.

The new stadium will accommodate crowds so that the mad rush for seats, when an interesting series comes along can be avoided and spectators reasonably be certain of accommodation in event of a world's series here.

But soft, let's not move so swiftly. Seven other clubs might send us to the observation ward.

Can't Be Done.

M. R. OSBORNE, of the Osborn Engineering Co., Cleveland, who is to execute the contract to construct the new stadium, has declined the offer of the Browns to build the stadium on the site of the old stadium.

Osborne said that Sportsman's Park was not the right place for a stadium. He said that the stadium should be built on a site that would be more convenient for the fans.

Now for a New Team.

MR. BALL'S next ambition is to give the public a pennant winner for the new park. Just what steps he will take to do this he has not communicated to anyone, but he is determined to get that flag.

He club finished third this year after suffering more than its share of misfortunes. Two All-Americans could put the team across a winner next year, providing no physical misfortunes happened.

With a third baseman and an outfielder, in addition to two hurlers, the club would be invincible. No official word is forthcoming on whether Joe Bush and Kenny Williams will be with the club next year.

It seems certain, however, that the Browns will be no worse off than they are now.

Formidable Backfield and Line Of Veterans Make Up Ames Team

Possibility That Two of the Line Regulars May Be Missing Saturday in Washington Game—Iowans Beat Kansas 20-0 and Is a Title Candidate.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AMES, Ia., Oct. 22.—Coach Sam Willaman is driving his Iowa State "Cyclone" football team at top speed in preparation for the tilt with Washington University on State Field Saturday afternoon. Willaman is doing everything possible to eliminate the fatal fumbling that has showed up in the last two games.

The Washington team is viewed with respect by Ames backers, due to the showing made against Drake and Oklahoma. The Pike team has a heavier team than the Cyclones and should make tough sledding for the Northerners.

The absence of two mainstays of the Ames line, Coe and Kingery, tackle, from the practice sessions since the Kansas game is causing a lot of worry for the Cyclone fans. Kingery has a badly bruised leg and Coe has a broken hand from the Jayhawkers, and it is extremely doubtful if either one will be in shape to meet the St. Louis team. The other players are in fine shape except for minor injuries.

Two Stars in Ames Backfield.

The Ames men are striving to make Washington another stepping stone to the Missouri Valley championship. The crucial tilt will come a week following the Pike tilt, when Ames meets the Missouri Tigers at Columbia.

Capt. J. Behm is tied at present with Meek of Kansas Aggies and Jackson of Missouri for high scoring honors in the conference, with 18 points. Cory, the plugging sophomore fullback, who hit the Kansas line for an average of three yards on every play and who plunged over the goal line for the

than a one, two, three team. Better, if they get the breaks in new players and good fortune.

Criticizing Bucy.

JOE WILLIAMS writes that "Bucky Harris' sobriquet of boy manager was earned, during the last series, Williams, a life long observer, says that Harris' handling of his pitchers was juvenile."

From which it appears that Ban Johnson had the right idea, but the wrong procedure, when he sent his telegram of "congratulations."

Spanking members of the family before company never was considered good form.

Please Mr. Pesek.

JOHN PESSEK has a good name as a wrestler. Many believe he is the greatest mat exponent today, not excepting Joe Stecher. Tonight he meets an opponent whose public fame is good, as far as records go, but whom private report labels as very ordinary.

Many wrestlers of merit say that Vadafi can't throw a good middleweight. I know of two who think they can beat Vadafi and one who will wage $500 he can throw him.

Another local observer says he will back Middleweight Gus Elise to beat Vadafi—this despite the fact that Vadafi owns a victory over a wrestler of undoubted merit, Jimmy London.

The point is this: Pesek is a real wrestler. He ought not to indulge Vadafi or any weaker opponent for mere showmanship purposes. The public is more interested in seeing how quickly and surely Pesek can throw his foe, in order that they can correctly get a line on this coming champion's ability.

The trouble with wrestling is that a wrong desire to give the public a show rather than a match has so ruined public form that only the wrestlers themselves, and the few who are in the mat world of today, are left.

Public form has been wrecked by "professional courtesy."

Break away from it, Mr. Pesek, and shoot all you've got like the real champion they say you are.

"THEY COULD BE SMALLER BUT NOT BETTER"

Great Field in Churchill Downs Juvenile Stake

Winner Likely to Be Made Winter Favorite for the Kentucky Derby.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 22.—With the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes, for 2-year-olds, at a mile, as the main feature, to be run on Saturday, Oct. 31, the fall meeting at Churchill Downs, which opens today, has every prospect of setting a new autumn record for the sport in this section.

In the 2-year-old classic, which has $10,000 added, and always goes a long way toward selecting the winter favorite for the Kentucky Derby, some of the best colts, geldings and fillies, East and West, are eligible.

Among the better class entered are J. E. Griffith's Canter, Little Asbestos, the Greenleaf Stables' Lancaster, Navigator and Nurmi, J. S. Hawkins' Norturnal, Senator Johnson N. Camden's Mary Kinkead and Dark Phantom, E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Farm Stable's Bubbling Over, Bracole and Banco, C. H. Walker's Leg Cabin Stud's Chance Play, J. E. Madden's Rocky Lane, Parkview Stable's Rhinok, Rancocas Stable's Nicholas, J. B. Responde's Great Sport, Walter J. Salmon's Flight of Time, Ursa Major and Powhattan, W. R. Coe's Shoshone Stable's Pompey, by many regarded as the Eastern champion, and H. P. Whitney's Macaw and Blonk.

Tryster First Winner.

The field is fully as impressive as it was last year when Master Charlie took down first money, worth $25,000, turning the mile in 1:31.5. This stake was first run in 1920. In its first year it was won by H. P. Whitney's Tryster, with Harry S. Sinclair's Grey Lag second and E. R. Bradley's Bohave third. Tryster did not run so fast, by a fifth of a second, as did Master Charlie last year, but the latter, of course, was aided by the start out of the chute. Tryster therefore became the winter choice for the Kentucky Derby of 1921.

Behave Yourself was all of 40 to 1 in the winter books. Tryster was the choice on the day of the race, but he was coupled with Prudery, a filly, which finished fourth. Behave Yourself, as is well known, beat his stable companion, Black Serp, which finished fifth, and the Whitney filly being eight lengths off this pair.

Starkie is the only filly ever to be the choice in the Kentucky Derby. This she did in 1921. The next year she captured the Kentucky Oaks.

Enchantment, winner in 1922, and Wise Counsellor, victor in 1923 were among the off-season favorites in the Derby, but the former ran unplaced and the latter did not get to start.

227 Made Second Payment.

The terms of this race are original subscriptions of $10 each; $25 each on Jan. 1, 1926 on July 1 and $25 each to start. Entries closed July 1, 1925, with 221 nominations. Of these, 227 made second payment of $25 each. This makes $14,825 already in the purse for the big race a week from next Saturday. If 12 accept the issue on the day of the race there will therefore be $27,825 to be distributed, including the $10,000 added money.

C. C. OF NEW YORK HAS BIG TRACK PROGRAM

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Three dual meets and the annual Intercollegiate constitute the City College cross-country schedule announced recently. Two varsity meets are pending. Lafayette opens the schedule on Oct. 31, while New York University will be met on Nov. 19.

The prospects for the City College hurriers are good this season. Sober, who will lead the team, holds the Metropolitan Junior and senior 800-yard championships, and McKnight, the C. C. N. Y. track coach, believes that Sober will do equally well in the longer distances.

Hot Off the Gridiron

Army Looks for Little Trouble From St. Louis U.

Ten Cadets Who Faced St. Louis Last Year, Will Again Be in Lineup.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Although every Army player who participated in the Notre Dame game has been back in harness this week, Coach McEwan did not work the varsity men very hard, until yesterday.

Army's practice consisted of a lengthy period devoted to actual scrimmaging, during which the varsity scored twice on a strong scrub aggregation.

More scoring was prevented when Head Coach McEwan halted the offensive play frequently to smooth out some rough spots.

Yeomans and Buell were the ball carriers who tallied touchdowns for the varsity.

The cadets devoted a brief period to defensive work, also, and in this drill but few of the regulars got into action. Forward pass plays, as launched by the scrubs, from some formations smacking strongly of the St. Louis style of attack, were frustrated in the end, but bothered the Army men not a little during the scrubs' march down the field.

Yeomans and Hewitt Punting.

The kickers were again pressing their specialty, and both Yeomans and Hewitt showed improved form. Most of the varsity men were in their places while the team was at center, Hammack and Schmidt guards, Elias and Perry tackles, Capt. Baxter and Horn at the ends, Harding quarterback, Trappell and Hewitt halfbacks, and Buell fullback.

Yeomans, Scheffler, Allan and Gilbreth also were used to carry the ball at various times. The practice was "open" and was viewed by the cadets of the battalion from the side lines.

New Plays Rehearsed.

Although Army is making no special preparations for the St. Louis University game, new plays were rehearsed yesterday. That they will be given a trial in the game against St. Louis, next Saturday, is a foregone conclusion.

The Misourians will be the fourth Western aggregation to come here this season. Army does not look for any serious trouble.

Of the 19 Army players who faced the St. Louis team last fall, either as regulars or substitutes, 10 of them are still on the squad and all are now holding down varsity berths. So that St. Louis is likely to be pitted against Army's best eleven, at least for a part of the game.

Northcliff Sam Field Trial Star

G. A. Northcott's Setter Captures All-Age Handicap at Ft. Pleasant.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Oct. 22.—The setter dog, Northcliff Sam, owned by G. A. Northcott of Huntington, W. Va., won the all-age stake of the West Virginia bird dog trials, which was decided here yesterday.

Second place went to the setter, Rex Speed, owned by E. J. Oesterle, of Parkersburg, and third to Charkarohen Lad, a Llewellyn setter owned by H. G. Harper, of Kenova, W. Va.

The stake had 12 starters and while it was not as high class as the derby, which was decided here Tuesday, a number of good dogs were in competition, some of which may be seen at the later trials in the South during December and January.

The winner of the stake was easily entitled to his place on the strength of his first series performance. His heat in the preliminaries, in which he made one of the finest very "finds" of the day.

The second place winner also did his best work. In the first series and while he ran in competition in the finals with Northcliff Sam and might have had a chance for winning first money, his performance was not quite equal to it and he went about as high as he was entitled to go. The judges for this stake were Dr. C. A. Langdale of Cincinnati, O., and D. H. Morton of Charleston, W. Va.

VON ANGELI, PAINTER OF ROYALTY, DIES

Austrian Artist Had Made Portraits of Queen Victoria, Kaiser and King Edward.

By the Associated Press. VIENNA, Oct. 22.—Austria's most famous portrait painter Heinrich von Angeli, died yesterday at the age of 85.

Among hundreds of notables of all countries, Von Angeli painted Queen Victoria and most of the British royalty of her period. Disraeli, Henry Stanley, the explorer, and Emperor Francis Joseph, several times.

He did not, however, paint the portrait of Empress Elizabeth, who would not consent to a sitting. The most she agreed to was to permit Von Angeli to memorize her features at a banquet and allow him an hour's interview afterwards.

The artist declined, saying, he was not a wizard, and the picture was never produced.

Heinrich von Angeli may justly be called the painter of royalty. Born July 8, 1840, at Oedenburg, Hungary, he studied at Vienna with Gustav Mueller, and at Dusseldorf, among his masterpieces are Mary Stuart on Her Way to the Gallows (1857); Louis XI, King of France, begging Saint Paul to prolong his life (1859); Marc Anthony and Cleopatra; Louisa Love, and The Rejected Absolution.

His portraits included Emperor William and Frederick of Germany; Empress Victoria of Germany and the Empress of Russia, Maria-Fredorovna; Field Marshal Moltke, and the Prince of Wales, later King Edward, in the uniform of a Prussian Field Marshal in 1883. He was in his time considered the greatest living celebrity in portraiture.

U. S. FRIGATE 128 YEARS OLD

Tablet Unveiled Aboard the Constitution.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The old frigate constitution was 128 years old yesterday. A tablet commemorative of the launching of this oldest of United States warships on Oct. 21, 1797, was unveiled aboard the Constitution in the Navy Yard here.

The exercises were led by Mayor Curley and participated in by school children. The tablet was unveiled by Theodore Frothingham III, and Eleanor Frothingham, great-grandchildren of Commodore William Bathbridge, commander of the Constitution in the war of 1812. During the ceremonies a flag, made before 1800 and carried by a privateer, was unfurled. A campaign is now under way for funds with which to restore the old ship, battered and worn by the vicissitudes of a century.

The Divine Lady

E. BARRINGTON

"The Divine Lady" is the story, partly fiction but largely based on fact, of Lady Emma Hamilton, the Englishwoman of lowly birth who became one of the best known and most talked about women in all Europe.

CHAPTER FORTY-NINE

BUT Emma knew better. She who in Greece's words, had always needed a master and must have the bit in her charming mouth and the bride and whip to direct her, had now found a slave, and a slave who had conquered the coming master of Europe. She knew it as every woman knows her power, and her head swam with the knowledge. Good God! what should she do with him! The wrong thing—inevitably the wrong thing.

Nelson's judgment in naval matters was infallible, but set him on shore and he was a man like another; and the more fallible because his prejudices were so strong and the self-esteem the world and Emma combined to flatter was stronger than his. How could he ever think himself in the wrong? He and Emma knew the inmost facts of the situation. Who should contradict them? They went their own way.

They flung the Two Sicilies into helpless war with France in the Roman territory, and when the army and the miserable King fled, there was nothing for it but a flight for the Royal Family to Palermo.

She tried a romance in those days and thrived exceedingly on the sparkle and bubble of it. One may see her at the Royal Palace, daily with the Queen, exhorting, almost commanding. Nelson had advised her of Buonaparte's design on the Two Sicilies. On Austria was no help; no, not even though Marie Caroline's daughter was Empress-Consort in Vienna. Palermo, Palermo and patience, had become the only hope for Neapolitan Royalty in these hard times.

"But I cannot, I cannot!" the pale Queen protested. "My dear friend, you may see for yourself that a King who flies is lost. Never again shall we regain our throne and Buonaparte has already a creature of his own to occupy it. I will die here. I will face my sister's fate from the Jacobins."

"If you die at your post, madam, I will remain and die with you," cried the impassioned Emma. "But Nelson advises flight, and did you ever know the savior of Europe wrong?"

But how, how can it be done if I cannot?—which I will not do unless compelled? You know, my beloved, my only friend, that we are watched night and day. We cannot fly without our jewels, treasures, necessities. It cannot be done."

Emma, who knew from the Queen's lips all the particulars of the flight of the unhappy King and Queen of France to Varennes and its miserable failure, recalled here how all was near lost by Marie Antoinette's insistence that Royalty could not flee without little queenly furniture which attracted suspicion. But she was not there to arrange it! That and all else if one were Emma. Her magnificent self-confidence carried her forward.

"Remember Varennes!" the Queen added sadly, her face sinking into utter lassitude as she looked out on the bright, sun-drenched garden.

"Remember, madam, that her Majesty of France had no Nelson—and may I add, no Emma."

The Queen clasped her hand silently. There was a long pause. "Madam, your Majesty has not heard our plans. We hear almost daily from Nelson. Can you suppose that he cannot carry all the treasures and all the needs of your Majesty and the royal family?"

"If he were at our disposal, yes," said the Queen languidly. "But why discuss the impossible, chere Miladi? Imagine that our possessions conveyed through the Jacobin mob? Imagine ourselves—no, no, we should be torn to pieces. If I could risk it for myself, how could I risk it for my children?"

Emma drew nearer, her quick eyes surveyed the room, the doors, the windows. The Queen sat by the window, leaning her elbow on it and her chin on her hand; an attitude of utter dejection.

"We have no star. All falls with us," she said. Emma stood, leaning slightly against the window and as if idly gathering a rosebud or two from the lawn growth outside. Her voice was lowered, that it carried to the Queen's ear, and no farther.

LADY HAMILTON AS QUEEN

Suppose there had been a secret passage between the palace and the sea, madam, known only to those who could be trusted. What would your Majesty say then?

The Queen fixed her bright, haggard eyes on her.

"Is it true?"

Emma nodded, and gathered another rose or two and flung them down to the royal children below, calling to them and laughing, until the women in attendance looked up at her bright face. Then she returned, still leaning, so that those below could see her careless attitude. She and the Queen might be discussing the last news of the battle at San Carlo.

"Madam, the great Nelson would never suggest a plan of which he could not foresee the end. This secret passage exists. It leads from below the royal apartments to the Mole, the small pier where boats can wait. And Nelson will have his flagship, the Vanguard, in waiting, and another vessel, the Alcione, for stores. On my knees I assure your Majesty that there is no danger. If you will leave it fearlessly to him and to me. And from their capital of Palermo, guarded by the British fleet, the King and Queen can dictate terms to the Jacobins in Naples."

Another long silence. Then the Queen broke into a thunderstorm of tears and sobbed.

"I am the most unfortunate of Queens, mothers and women. I have nothing left in the world. All has failed."

Emma knelt beside her and ventured to clasp the hand which lay helpless on her knee.

"Madam, you have not lost all. You have life. You have power, and Nelson—who cannot fail you—there was a queen more unfortunate by far—your beloved, unhappy sister of France. Oh, my adorable unhappy Queen, act while there is yet time, lest your name should be added to hers—as most miserable."

The Queen agreed faintly, exhausted with grief, and the next day retraced her promise. So it went on for days, with Nelson urging and Emma pleading—pleading with reinforcement from Acton—until, at last, when Emma was almost worn out herself, the Queen consented to the gradual removal of the royal treasures and jewels as a beginning.

"Possibly, she said, if they were removed out of danger, she herself would face the storm in Naples."

Even that was something gained, and Nelson wrote that the logic of events would convince the Queen, for the French power in Italy was gradually drawing southward.

On the fifth of December he returned with the Vanguard and Alcione and the great event was at hand. And at last the Queen realized that the time for decision was upon her.

Every day Emma was with her at the palace. Every day priceless jewels, part of the old heritage of Austria, the new glories of the Neapolitan kingdom, were carefully inventoried, and carried off in her bosom, or the innocent bags she wore in the prevalent fashion secured to her wrist with a slender golden chain. She was perfectly fearless and it is probable she had never enjoyed her position so much in her life. Every day made her of more consequence. She was the pivot on which turned the whole conspiracy of flight.

It must be here, owned that the English daughter of the people had the true English adoration of rank and consequence, and that her own experiences had steadily convinced her that rank and power are the indispensable of life. Who had cared for Emma Hart with all her beauty and gifts? Who did not care for my Lady Hamilton, her Excellency, the adored friend of the daughter and mother of "governors"? The queen of the Queen became an obsession with her.

She began to believe that the English Fleet, England itself, should pause from all other concerns to safeguard this Princess whose favor meant everything to the Ambassador. The contact vulgarity of her mind daily. All was subordinated to the Queen—who in turn was to be guided entirely by her.

The work of packing proceeded in secrecy and haste, and Nelson might have been alarmed if he had seen the mountainous cargo being prepared for his ships. Valuable works of art, treasures small and great, were secured in chests and conveyed into the subterranean passage for embarkation. During the seven nights between the fourth and twenty-first, of December, under Emma's own supervision, treasures of almost inestimable value in more than money were carried off. Nelson himself wrote to his commander in chief, Lord St. Vincent:

"Lady Hamilton from this time to the twenty-first, every night received the jewels of the Royal Family, etc., etc., and such clothes as might be necessary for the very large party to embark to the amount, I am confident, of full £2,500,000. There should be no booty left for the Jacobins."

She had on Nelson's instructions, also warned all the British merchants in Naples that there was a refuge for them on board any of the ships of the fleet now in the Bay of Naples.

But all was conducted in perfect security, owing to the advantage of the secret passage, and only the vaguest rumors got abroad. Day by day the King and Queen showed themselves on the balcony of the Palace, smiling to the people, calm, smiling, happy. And the more dispersed content, and the preparations went on steadily.

The great night came, and still Emma supported the Queen's resolution. Surely a more extraordinary page in history scarcely exists. It was the twenty-first of December, the Alcione loaded with treasure, waiting off Positippo; the Vanguard prepared for the flight, and the King and Queen, and their retinue, and their crowding attendants, Sir William left frantic at the prospect of abandoning the Palazzo Sesia and the Villa Emma to the plundering Jacobins, and all else in her preoccupation with Nelson and the Queen.

She had vouchsafed a little confidence with Nelson to Sir William's art treasures, the collection of a lifetime, and a part had been embarked on board the Colossus, but that was all the thought she could spare from her more pressing duties.

It was a night of storm and rain, possibly the safer on that account, but infinitely terrifying to fair-weather travelers. Marie Caroline had written her last farewell letter from the palace to her daughter, the Empress of Austria. "Once on board, God help us!" she wrote. "Saved, but ruined and dishonored."

Yet no way out for every hour of the night was more dangerous. Afterwards she wrote again to the Emperor:

"We descended, 10 in number, with the utmost secrecy, in the dark, without our ladies in waiting or other attendants. Nelson was our guide."

But even the Empress was not told all the particulars. Emma wrote them to Greville, and it is permissible to imagine the feeling with which the cool, the subtle Greville would read the heights to which his heroine had soared.

Emma—Good God! "On the twenty-first at 10 at night, Lord Nelson, Sir William, mother and self went out to pay a visit, sent all our servants away and ordered supper at home. When they were gone, we set off, walked to our boats, and after two hours went to the Vanguard. Lord Nelson then went with armed boats to a secret passage adjoining to the palace, got up the dark staircase that goes into the Queen's room and with a dark lantern, cutlasses, pistols, etc., brought off every soul, 10 in number to the Vanguard at 10 o'clock. If we had remained to the next day we should all have been imprisoned."

It was done, and as the last boat reached the Vanguard, and the royal fugitives ascended from the tossing waves, pale, terrified, rain-wet and wind-blown, Emma, leaning over the side, to watch their reception, felt her heart beat high with pride and triumph. Glory, even more glorious than her imagination was, was hers. She had saved a King and in so doing had proved her own courage and addressed to all the world.

The famous flight to Varennes of the unhappy Marie Antoinette and the King of France had failed for want of courage and address like her own. She had not failed. She had triumphantly reacted them and not only themselves, but their family and their treasures. No half successes for her. It could not have been better accomplished, Nelson had been her instrument; without him it could not have been done.

Pretty and Brainy. Yet She's Disliked

WINIFRED BLACK

"WHAT on earth's the matter with Nellie? Haven't she a friend in the world? Or a relative?"

"Not even a maiden aunt or an old school teacher or something?"

"Did you hear what she said today?" And we all looked at each other and gasped. Poor Nellie, she's handsome and she is clever, and she's as good as gold, and everybody she knows either hates the sight of her or makes fun of her.

Wait till you hear about Nellie. Now this particular time, for instance—we were all talking about clothes and Nellie said:

"Oh, well, of course, that's a very smart style, but only a few people can wear it. I can get away with it myself because I'm unusually good-looking, and I have a good figure and I know how to carry myself."

"The ordinary girl would be absolutely wiped out in such a costume."

Some of us started to laugh—but Nellie didn't laugh. She wasn't joking—she was perfectly serious.

Kind of queer part of it was that every word she said was true. Absolutely true.

She is handsome and she has a good figure and she does know how to wear her clothes, but, oh! if she'd only let somebody else say it.

She never does, though. Not Nellie.

"How in the world do these stupid girls get through life at all?" says Nellie. "When I see the trouble they make for themselves, I say a little prayer night and morning, a prayer of gratitude, for being created with brains."

And she never smiles—she's perfectly serious about it. Nellie would lend you her last cent, she'd go across the State to be of service to you, she'd let you wear her prettiest hat and her smartest new frock if she thought you really needed them.

She's intelligent and witty, she reads all the new books and sees all the new plays, but somehow nobody can bear the sight of her. All because she hasn't common sense enough to conceal the fact that she thinks such an awful lot of herself.

Poor Nellie! The world is just made up of reflections of herself. Did you ever live in a room with seven or eight mirrors in it? I did, once, for a week or so.

And, dear me, it nearly drove me crazy. I met myself coming in the door, and every time I combed my hair there were seven other girls combing their hair. It nearly frightened me to death. I felt as if I wasn't myself at all, but a kind of a reflection in some sort of big mirror somewhere.

And I began to wonder who the real girl was.

Poor Nellie! She just lives in a world of mirrors. Yes, she's an only child, and, yes, she's an orphan—that's one of the things that's the matter with Nellie.

Can you imagine her saying things like that—in a big family—or even if she had one lonesome brother—or even a cousin, red-headed and freckled?

I'll bet she wouldn't! They'd kid her to death.

Poor Nellie! I wonder if she'll ever wake up!

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By NELLIE E. GARDNER

HOW many things can you do? A clock is a perfect ticker. And a buzz-saw knows what to do when its teeth hit the wood.

But could either change places? Don't be a piece of machinery, able to do only one thing, no matter how well. Be alive, be human, be adaptable. If the bookkeeper is called away, be prepared to fill that desk. Don't get rusty in your shorthand. It may have been years since you used it, but when the stenographer is taken ill, it will come in mighty handy.

Your salary may be far in advance of the little typist just out of school—and you may feel many notches ahead of her in the business scale—but when the office gets in a jam, with a load of work that must be rushed through, don't scorn to put your fingers to the keys. In this age of specialization, too many of us are forgetting how to be all-around useful.

Magicians are welcome in a business organization as well as on the stage. It is well to have a few surprises up your sleeve.

It will do you no harm, in the opinion of those who grade the salary schedule and arrange promotions, to learn that you are skilled in many capacities. Have no fear that you will be imposed upon if the information "leaks" that you can perform a variety of tasks. It will only be marked up to your credit, and put you in line for advancement.

One of the best executives I ever knew—man or woman—was a woman who knew how to do more things and was willing to do them, in emergencies, than any other individual I ever met. I verily believe if the office were burning, she would produce a chemical fire extinguisher from her desk and put out the blaze; if the staff had to work all night, she would bring in electric appliances and make toast and tea or coffee and waffles; if the boss's wife or baby was sick, she would go home and nurse at the bedside for a forty-eight-hour vigil, proving her expert hand as well as her big, warm heart.

Know how to "pinch-hit" in the jobs above you as well as beneath. In a quiet, unobtrusive way, investigate and learn as much as possible about all phases of your business. Many a successful actress or opera star today is a woman who was a hard-working, conscientious understudy, to whom fate suddenly gave her chance.

Make it your business, all the time, to understudy every position in your establishment, from office boy to president. Some day the lucky break will be yours!

Lucie Lantelme, the famous Parisian beauty, told me a wonderful secret years ago. That secret has done wonders to me. It helped to make me a famous beauty. It has kept my youth.

Now that formula is no longer secret. I have just returned from Paris, where I find that most lovely women use it. Leading beauty experts the world over now employ and advise it. But they charge a price which bars it from the majority.

I am supplying that formula through toilet counters everywhere. The name is Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth. The price is only 75c. Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. All the grime and dirt, dead skin and clogging matter depart with it. I never knew what a clean skin meant until I used this Facial Youth.

The first step to beauty is a clean skin. Don't try to doctor a clogged skin. Don't think that soap and water can ever clean your skin to the depths. Facial Youth is the only cleanser I ever apply to my face. And I apply it all over my body before the bath.

No woman who once applies Facial Youth will ever go a day without it. It means too much. The coupon will bring you a sample with my latest Beauty Book. Peter Gets Better Acquainted

PETER RABBIT was greatly delighted with his new acquaintance, Ruddy the Red-backed Mouse, living in the Green Forest. He was delighted for the reason that he is always delighted when he learns something new, and it was new to him that there was such a small person as Ruddy the Red-backed Mouse, cousin to Danny Meadow Mouse. So, having made this new acquaintance, Peter spent considerable time in that part of the Green Forest where he had found Ruddy. He didn't always find Ruddy when he wanted to, but then for that matter neither did he always find Danny Meadow Mouse when he wanted to. The truth is, to be exact, Ruddy usually found Peter instead of Peter finding Ruddy. Peter would go over there and just sit around until he would hear a squeaky little voice say, "Hello, Peter Rabbit." Then for a while Peter would gossip. You know, he dearly loves to gossip.

"Do you have a lot of private little paths like your cousin, Danny Meadow Mouse?" asked Peter. "Why do you ask?" inquired Ruddy suspiciously. "Oh, for nothing in particular," replied Peter. "I just wondered, that's all. Over on the Green Meadows I am forever finding Danny's private little paths. But here I have not found any paths that I thought were yours." Ruddy grinned. "I'm glad to know it," said he. "Of course, I have a few little paths, but they're mostly hidden where you wouldn't see them. You see, here in the Green Forest I don't have to run in paths as Danny Meadow Mouse does in the grass. He has to cut paths through that grass because it grows so close. Here I can run anywhere I please. I like it better this way. I have lived where it was damp and moss grew very thick, and there I had little paths. I couldn't help it. But paths are very likely to get you into trouble.

"They don't me," declared Peter. "They get me out of trouble. If it hadn't been for the little paths that I have cut all through the dear old Briar-patch, I would have been caught and eaten more than once."

Ruddy began to chuckle. He chuckled and chuckled. It was a funny, squeaky little chuckle. "What are you laughing at?" demanded Peter.

"I was just wondering how any one could be eaten more than once," said Ruddy.

Peter wobbled his wobbly little nose at Ruddy. "You know what I meant," said he. "You know that I meant there's been more than one time when those little paths saved my life."

"That's because you live in such a tangle that you have to have little paths through it in order to move quickly. Now, I don't. If I had little paths they would be likely to lead some enemy right straight to my house," said Ruddy.

"That reminds me," exclaimed Peter. "Where is your house? I've been wondering about that for some time."

Again Ruddy chuckled that funny little chuckle of his. "A lot of people have wondered about that very same thing and are still wondering," said he. "I'm afraid you'll have to wonder with the rest of them unless you are smart enough to find it. If you can find it I'll be glad to have you make a call on Mrs. Ruddy and myself. Speaking of home, I must get right back there now. Good-by, Peter."

CITIZENS' BOND BODY CHALLENGED BY THE MAYOR

Wishes of Supervisory Committee Ignored in Purchase of Fire Department Apparatus.

MEMBERS TO INQUIRE AS TO THEIR STATUS

Miller Requested to Appear Before Them at First Opportunity and Discuss Their Powers.

Mayor Miller, who pledged himself before his election to the principle that advice of the Citizens' Bond Issue Supervisory Committee "should be sought and followed," now has challenged the committee's authority and directed one of his subordinates to disregard its wishes.

As a result, most of the committee members have concluded it would be useless for their activity to continue if the Mayor insists on his stand, and the committee yesterday adopted a resolution calling on the Mayor to appear before the committee at the first opportunity and discuss its powers.

The break occurred over the committee's refusal to approve a proposed ordinance for $136,000 for 14 motor pumps for the Fire Department until specifications on which all manufacturers could bid were submitted with it.

Attitude of the Mayor.

At its meeting Oct. 8, its first since last spring, the committee directed return of the ordinance to the Director of Public Safety, and also requested a demonstration of the pumps of all bidders. Mayor Miller referred the request to the committee and yesterday the committee received a copy of the Mayor's reply, in which the Mayor said:

"It strikes me the supervisory committee have gone far beyond their powers in this. It was the original intention that the expenditure of the pumps should be made out of the bond issue funds, but not to state how, where and when these funds are to be expended. Therefore, my recommendation to you is to see that the Board of Aldermen passes the ordinance as drawn, and the officials who are legally constituted by the voters of this city will use their best judgment as to the character of apparatus to be purchased."

Statements of Members.

W. Frank Carter, chairman of the committee, who was an active supporter of William L. Lewis, the Mayor's Democratic opponent, declared after the Mayor's letter was read yesterday: "If that statement is correct we have no purpose here."

Frank H. Gerhart, who had offered the resolution requesting specifications, said: "Director of Public Safety Wall has just been here and explained his waterworks ordinance to us. There has been some talk about past demonstrations of fire apparatus not having been fair. I don't yield to the Mayor or anybody else. We can't supervise unless we know something about the products being purchased."

Vice Chairman Harry Sullivan said: "I don't understand this. I can't see what the Mayor's purpose is. If this letter is correct, we might as well adjourn. Finally, I have a lot of things to do besides spending time here if it doesn't mean anything."

Would Question Miller.

"When, where and how?" A. Werremer, quoted from the Mayor's letter, "That's pretty hard. I don't see what the purpose of the committee is then. I move the chairman and secretary be requested to see the Mayor and ask what he means."

"I don't see how we are going to supervise now," declared John J. Downing, president of the Real Estate Exchange. "I'm negotiating my business to be here."

W. Palmer Clarkson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, referred to the Mayor's reference to the "original intention" for the committee's duties. "How does he know what the intention was?" Clarkson asked. "What authority has he for that statement?" "I don't see anything improper about the request we made."

Suggestion of Carter.

Werremer pressed his motion and Chairman Carter said: "I'll not move on that committee. A resolution was adopted by the Board of Aldermen before the bond election, calling for appointment of this committee of citizens and the names of these persons were circulated among the voters before the election as those who would supervise."

OUT AGAIN, IN AGAIN. ACCORDING to a recent rules revision, a fighter who's been knocked outside the ring, if he gets back will forfeit the decision. And get no chance to have another fight. So, some one coming like a cyclone struck him—Don't grab him in your arms but neatly duck him. So, if beside the ringside you are sitting, And some one gently drops into your lap, And, though you think it but humane and fitting, To help in returning to the scrap, Don't do it, for you'd only aid in humbling The guy who did the ground and lofty tumbling.

Beyond a doubt the knock-out wallop pleases, But when the fight arena they install, Around the ring they ought to hang trapezes And nets to catch the fighters when they fall; Then, on somebody's bean they'll not be fighting, But, scramble back again and go on fighting.
